PREFACE.

IN producing the first issue of our "Rail, Road and Sea Guide to the North Coast and Northern Tablelands of N.S.W.," we have used every endeavour to make the publication both accurate and comprehensive. Profiting by over 30 years experience as publishers, our aim has been to supply in handy pocket size the maximum of information in the minimum of space.

Realising that it is impossible to publish a work of this description without personal knowledge of the areas concerned, our Mr. Percy Wilson, Jnr., spent a considerable time in the various districts, securing first-hand information from the most reliable sources.

The Inset Maps which embrace the whole of the territory under review, contain a great deal of detail—not even the smallest place has been omitted. By reference to our Map Index all towns, etc. are instantly located. by first ascertaining the number of the map and then the letter indicating the square where the information sought should appear. A careful perusal of the General Index, contained on pages 8 to 11, would well pay the reader, whilst the Index to Advertisements (which appears in classified order on pages 23 to 31 inclusive) will undoubtedly prove indispensable to travellers.

It is our intention to issue this Guide annually, and, following the usual practise, strictly adhered to by us with all our publications, every edition will be revised and kept up-to-date by the inclusion of the latest information, which will be found invaluable to the business man, tourist and travelling public.

We must express our appreciation and thanks for the courtesy and generous assistance extended by numerous Town and Shire Clerks, various Newspaper Editors and business people generally, who spared neither time or trouble in supplying important details.

To the Advertisers who have solidly supported us in this, the first issue, we owe much.

Fishing Notes on N.S.W. North Coast.

(by R. EASTWAY.)

It is difficult to describe in a few pages the wealth of fishing, freshwater and saltwater, to be had on the North Coast of N.S.W., as we have such a great variety of climate and weather conditions over the 600-mile stretch of coast line.

All local residents know the fishing possibilities of their districts, but a stranger, travelling on the coast, must have some foreknowledge of what to expect and provide for.

Leaving Sydney, the first fishing spots are Hawkesbury River and Woy Woy. Hawkesbury is one of the greatest marine beauty spots in the Southern Hemisphere and affords the angler every opportunity for any class of fishing he desires. Still water—Black Bream, Flathead, Jewfish, etc. The upper reaches provide excellent Perch fishing, whilst the Entrance at Broken Bay provides very good Schnapper fishing. Excellent service and boats or launches can be had reasonably at Brooklyn.

The next resort is Woy Woy, from which Brisbane Water, Ettalong, and all the various allied bays and inlets may be reached. These all are the home of Whiting, Bream and Flathead fishing. Practically all access to these resorts is from Woy Woy Station, from where a great service of launches and motor cars spread fanwise over the huge expanse of water.

WYONG is the railway town for the popular resorts of Tuggerah Lakes and Lakes Entrance. These are reached from Wyong by parlor coach or launch from same town. Tuggerah is renowned for Whiting fishing, where the succulent worm causes the early demise of thousands of whiting weekly. In the summer season the tourist is well advised to spend a night at Lakes Entrance. Prawns come in countless millions to the sandflats in about 24 inches of water, and up to 700 "prawners" have been counted in one night. Each prawner carries a hurricane lamp or cycle lamp to attract the prawns to his scoop net. The "Venetian Carnival effect" can be well imagined when it is realised that each prawner is wading at least 100 yards from the shore.

The next great inlet is Lake Macquarie, on which are popular fishing resorts. Swansea, at the Entrance, and Belmont, on the railway side of the Lake. Swansea may be reached either by car from Newcastle or Gosford, or launch from Belmont, which is close to the rail. All general inside fishing is good.

NEWCASTLE, the great coal port, is very popular for saltwater fishing, whilst trips may be arranged up the Hunter River to the freshwater portion, where Perch fishing can be indulged in.

PORT STEPHENS, reached by car from Newcastle, is so large that experts foretell it will develop into a greater port than Sydney. Nelson's Bay, Tea Gardens, and a host of small villages dot its shores. Here, every variety of saltwater fishing can be had. Few people realise that Port Stephens was the first place in Australia where the great fighting fish, "Tuna" and "Spanish Mackeral," were discovered and fished for under Club Rules. The game fish in Port Stephens are as good as the much advertised similar fish in New Zealand—the fault lying with the Australian authorities in not advertising and helping the sport in order to attract World Tourists.

PINDIMAR, on Port Stephens, is the home of the great Sharkfishing Industry. Thousands of sharks are caught by trawlers and their tanned skins and extracted oils go to every country in the world. The main supply of Oysters for Sydney comes also from Port Stephens.

North of Port Stephens we come to TUNCURRY and FORSTER, both well known and popular fishing resorts. Tuncurry is especially favoured by Sydney holiday makers. It is reached by car from Taree, or by steamer direct from Sydney. Good inside and outside fishing, and is especially noted for Black Bream and Schnapper.

HARRINGTON is another very popular resort reached by car north from Taree.

PORT MACQUARIE is noted both for its deep-sea fishing and for excellent fishing off the Breakwater. We would advise intending anglers to consult local fishermen about the tides, as the breakwater is rather a tricky place to fish unless local conditions are understood.

COFF'S HARBOUR is almost the same as Port Macquarie for fishing, except, perhaps, "a little more so."

Moving farther north we come to WOOLGOOLGA, YAMBA and ILUKA where James Paddon, Ex-Champion Sculler of the World, now earns a very handsome competence.

BALLINA and local towns supply great saltwater fishing.

BYRON BAY, the terminal point of the popular steamer "Wollongbar," is a popular resort. The wreck of the old "Wollongbar" is still on the beach, and the tides and storms have excavated deep holes around her. These are successfully fished for Black Bream, etc., whilst large numbers of fishermen can always be seen with fair "bags" on the long jetty serving these steamers.

TWEED HEADS and COOLANGATTA at the border of N.S.W. and Queensland, known as the "Twin Towns," present a peculiar problem to tourist fishermen. Tweed Heads on the river presents wonderful opportunities in the river, every variety of fish. Coolangatta has wonderful beaches where beach fishing is "de luxe." The point is that the two towns are divided by a strip of land 20 feet wide and the fisherman on N.S.W. side sees the fisherman on Queensland side having a "spot" at 8 o'clock p.m., whilst the Queensland fisherman sees the N.S.W. fisherman having a "spot" at 6 a.m. before setting out—that is why N.S.W. and Queensland fishermen are so friendly at the "Twin Towns."

With regard to the fishing gear required on the areas covered. A tourist intending travelling the North Coast of N.S.W. should provide himself with fishing gear to cover every class of fishing in salt water. He must remember that from Sydney to the "Twin Towns" the climatic conditions vary from the equitable climateof Sydney to semi-tropical at the border.

Any reputable sporting goods (tackle) house in Sydney should be able to give full directions and advice as to fish, seasons, tackle and method of fishing at any fishing resort in New South Wales.

General Information.

FOOTGEAR.

The first need is a pair of stout but comfortable boots. If they are well shod with hob-nails or similar projections, arduous walking will be facilitated considerably. The writer, after exhaustive experiments, has found the square-headed "golf sprags," so common on all links, to be the best accessories to hard travelling. They "bite" well on sandstone, mossy rocks, bark, grass, swamps, etc. In fact, they are perfectly adapted for their purpose, save in one respect.

When granite or basalt is encountered, these sprags are a menace rather than an aid. They tend to "skid" on igneous rocks. Thick, soft woollen socks are best for heavy walking. Not only do they withstand the strain excellently, but they are unlikely to cause blisters.

EQUIPMENT.

Never be without matches. This is important, as sometimes circumstances compel a sojourn in the bush all night. Even in hot weather the evenings grow cold, and nothing is more miserable than a night in the bush or the mountains without a fire. Needless to remark, clothes should be loose and comfortable, and of a nature to withstand harsh treatment.

POINTS OF COMPASS.

The points of the compass may be ascertained in very simple fashion. In eighteen cases out of twenty the MAIN fork of a tree OPENS east and west. That is, the branches lie north and south, and a traveller who peers through the "V" formed by them is looking either east or west. If it be morning the sun will be on the eastern side of the fork. In the afternoon it will be on the western side. Just notice the GENERAL bearing of tree forks in the vicinity, and at once you will have the points of the compass.

WHAT TO DO WHEN LOST.

If the worst happen, and you find yourself "lost," the first essential is to keep your head.

Don't rush heedlessly about. It will exhaust you; and reckless scrambling in rough country merely is inviting an accident.

Build a fire, and possess yourself in patience. If your friends know the direction you have taken, a rescue party will find you next morning. Its task will be made much more difficult if you have rushed aimlessly about in a panic.

If you have been foolish enough to set forth without intimation to your friends on the general direction intended to be followed, you cannot afford to lose your head. Sit down calmly, and think whether you are on the north or south side of the railway line. Having decided this important question, take your bearings by the trees, as explained on another page, and work steadily in the correct direction to find the railway line. In this event, ascend the FIRST ridge which bears in the right direction, and follow its crest.

GENERAL ADVICE.

If you are not a passable bushman, keep to the beaten tracks unless accompanied by a competent guide.

If your head is not cool and your nerve steady, don't approach the edges of cliffs. Many persons are affected with acute nausea and dizziness when they gaze from great heights.

Thoroughly test shrubs, projecting rocks, clumps of fern, etc., before entrusting your weight to them. Above all, never trust a DEAD tree. Dry timber is very brittle and unreliable.

Be careful not to roll boulders on those below you. If by any chance a stone commences to roll, give a loud warning to your companions, and thus afford them a chance to escape the danger.

If you slip, when climbing steep or slippery places, don't scramble wildly in an effort to regain your balance. Such action leads to injury and danger. The best course is to fall as gently as possible, and immediately clutch the nearest shrub, fern, or rock.

Never ascend or descend unknown cliffs unless you are an accomplished mountaineer. Sometimes it is very difficult to retrace your steps.

Don't chew strange leaves and twigs, or you may endure a very uncomfortable aftermath.

Don't drink copiously of cold spring water when heated. Sip it gently. This procedure quenches the thirst more effectively, and does not lead to stomach pains.

Time your journey to reach home before dark. Negotiating strange country in the night is a dangerous and uncertain proceeding.

If overtaken by night, build a fire, and wait until morning to resume your journey.

Never enter abandoned mines, shafts, or other workings. The timbers in ALL these mines have decayed, and falls from the roofs and walls are of frequent occurrence. The disturbance created by your entrance is very likely to precipitate a fall.

Should a heavy mist arise, which obscures the country, and prevents you from ascertaining your bearings, camp where you are until it lifts.

When walking through the bush in single file, never tread close on the heels of the man before you. Keep ten or twelve feet in his rear, then you will not be struck in the face by bushes which he permits to fly back.

SNAKES.

Diamond and carpet snakes are perfectly harmless; but black, tiger, and brown snakes are deadly unless immediate treatment is given the bite.

If bitten on a limb, tie a boot-lace or other stout cord ABOVE the wound, and twist it tight with a piece of stick. The process is painful; but it is imperative to stop the circulation. Then take a pen-knife, or other sharp instrument, and scarify the bite freely. It is perfectly safe to suck the wound, unless the lips are cracked. After having effected this rough surgery, get the patient to a medical man as quickly as possible. At the expiration of half-an-hour, loosen the ligature for five minutes. At the termination of an hour remove it altogether. The rubbing of permanganate of potash (Condy's crystals) into the wound facilitates recovery, as it counteracts the poison.

If a bite be on the body, cheek, or such place that a ligature is impossible, homeric remedy is needed. Cut the piece completely out as quickly as possible, and suck it hard and long. The freer it bleeds, the greater the chance of recovery.

LEECHES.

Sometimes, when walking in the depths of damp gorges, you may be attacked by a leech. There is no occasion to feel alarm, if you notice a worm-like insect, either black or striped, attached to your leg or arm. It merely is a scrub leech. They cling like limpets with the sucker that is placed at their extremity, and suck so insidiously that no pain is felt, or other indication given of their presence. To remove them use the back of a knife in razor fashion, or else scrape them off with a piece of stick. The blood may flow freely after their removal; but no ill effects ensue, and the bleeding stops automatically in the course of an hour or two. It never is violent enough to cause harm, however protracted it may be. Leeches have been known to suck blood through a stout pair of tweed trousers.

If salt is available, a liberal application will cause the leech to drop off.

PROVISIONS.

When organising picnics or camping parties it is foolish to leave the provisioning to chance. This only means that you will have perhaps four lbs. butter and no bread, or four loaves of bread and no butter, etc. Also, members of the party feel that they will look mean if they do not take a quantity of food, with the result that far too much is taken, and has to be carried home at the end of a strenuous day.

The best plan is to draw up a list of requirements, and instruct each member to bring certain things. One purchases the butter, another the bread, a third the meat, and so on. By following this procedure nothing is forgotten; and the load to be carried home is negligible.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION.

Many a valuable life has been sacrificed on the beaches owing to onlookers lacking knowledge of an approved method of resuscitating the apparently drowned.

When a bather is rescued from the surf and is unconscious or even seemingly dead, waste no time in proceeding with resuscitation. Lay the patient in a prone position on the face with the head turned to one side so that the nose and mouth are clear of the ground to allow access of air. Do not place a pad under him; nor need the tongue be drawn out. It will fall clear naturally, owing to the position.

Kneel at one side, facing the patient's head, and place the palms of your hands on his loins, one at each side, the thumbs almost touching each other in the small of the back, and the fingers extending over the lower ribs.

Throw your body forward, letting its weight press straight downward upon the patient's loins and lower part of the back, thus compressing the stomach against the ground, and driving the air out of the chest.

Then draw back your body somewhat more rapidly and relax the pressure without removing the hands.

Keep alternating these two movements by a rhythmic swaying backward and forward of your body, at a speed of about 15 times a minute, persevering until breathing is normal or a doctor pronounces life extinct.

Do not despair or give up too readily. Sometimes life is restored after the lapse of two hours.

STINGS.

Surf-bathers always are exposed to danger of stings from jelly-fish, Portuguese Men-of-War, and other marine denizens. If ammonia is available, a liberal application will allay the pain. A useful makeshift remedy is the household blue-bag. Ordinary treacle, while messy, soothes the stings, allaying the pain by its cooling properties. No alarm need be felt, even if an efficient remedy is not procurable. There is no danger and the pain subsides within 15 to 30 minutes.

SUN BURN.

Sun burn, for the tyro, is rather an insidious thing and although the victim rarely receives sympathy, it is very painful. The trouble is that the effect of the sun on the skin does not become apparent until later. The novice lies on the sand, beside a comrade who is thoroughly tanned, and does not realise that he or she is getting burned. The knowledge comes that night.

Until inured to the sun, it is advisable to restrict sun-baths to about 15 minutes a day. As the skin assumes a brown hue the period can be lengthened at discretion until complete immunity is secured.

If burned, apply cream, sweet oil, or other greasy substance, taking care not to rub or irritate the tender skin. If blisters form, follow the same treatment. Do not prick the blisters, and see that dirty clothing or dyed material does not come in contact with them.

CUTS FROM SHELLS.

Cuts from Oyster-shells, Barnacles, and other Molluses, always must be regarded as needful of attention. Let them bleed freely, if they will, paddling the wound in the water to cleanse it. On reaching home, wash thoroughly with a mild antiseptic, and bandage to exclude dirt. Blood poisoning frequently results from neglected injury by a shell and precaution is advisable, particularly when the wound is on a foot and exposed to risk of infection from dirt or colored socks.

UNDERTOW.

When caught in the undertow, do not exhaust yourself by futile efforts to swim against the current. The approved method is to swim with the current, taking a diagonal course until beyond its influence. Then either swim in or "shoot" in on the first breaker. Novices invariably attempt to stem the force of the current, with the result that they exhaust themselves and sink.

HINTS TO SURFERS.

Always swim between the flags. They are placed there by experts for that purpose. All may seem safe beyond the flag area, but appearances frequently are deceptive. Only strong and experienced surfers can afford to take risks.

Don't venture too far out, where experienced surfers may go with immunity may mean death to the novice.

If sand enters the eyes do not rub them. Plunge them under the surface of the water and open them. The sea will wash the intruding sand clear. By rubbing you force the gritty particles into the eye-ball, causing pain and discomfort and possibly injuring the sight.

Beware of floating masses of sea-weed. Not only do they contain jelly-fish and other stinging organisms, but they are apt to tangle the limbs of weak swimmers and cause disaster.

On a strange beach, beware of smooth spots in an otherwise rough surf; usually this deceptive smoothness is caused by the undertow, and is the most dangerous section of the beach. Consult an experienced surfer before taking your swim.

THE HAWKESBURY RIVER.

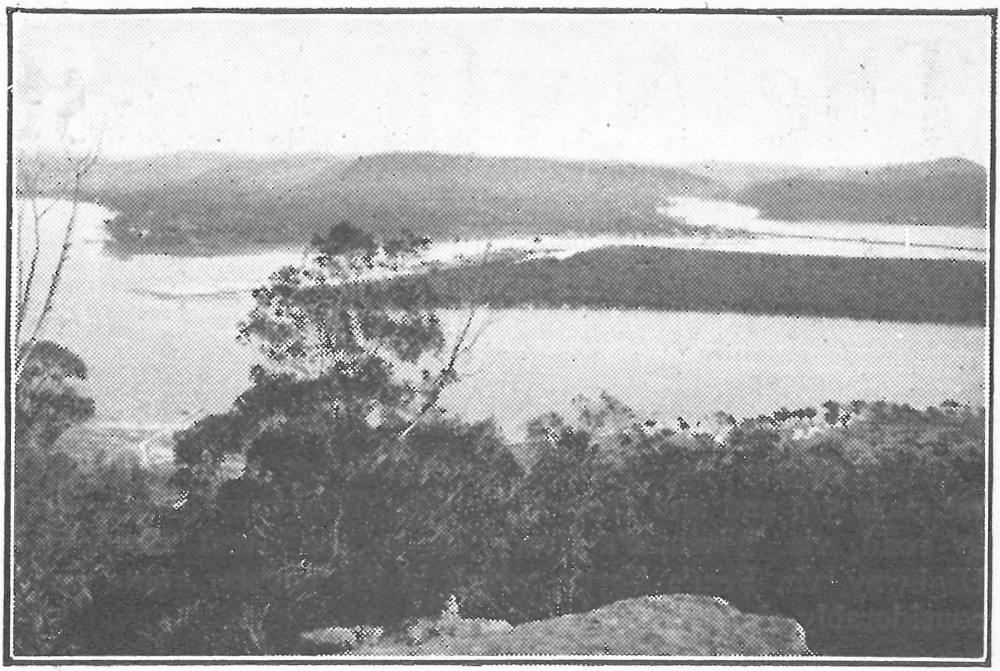

When travelling North, either by road or rail, one cannot but be impressed by the picturesqueness and magnitude of the Hawkesbury River, which does not lose in beauty during the whole of its course. The sides of the hills are thickly and prettily wooded right down to the water's edge.

Along the upper reaches successful fruit orchards, particularly citrus fruits, are dotted, the products of which are shipped by river steamer direct to Sydney. Being subjected to floods, the soil is consequently wonderfully fertile.

Excursion trips are made from Sydney by the Newcastle and Hunter River steamers on Saturdays and holidays. A wonderful view is obtained at the entrance, with Barrenjoey Lighthouse acting as a sentinel on the left and Lion Island on the right. Unfortunately the River, although of great length, is not of sufficient depth to be navigable by large steamers. Many trips may be made by launch to beauty spots all along the river.

Fishing is excellent.—See notes by R. Eastway, page 33.

The Hawkesbury River Bridge is the main artery for rail traffic to the North and North West.

Fares to Hawkesbury River Railway Station from Sydney are: 1st class 3/9 and 2nd class 2/10. From Newcastle the fares are: 1st class 11/- and 2nd class 7/8.

Motorists travelling North have the choice of two crossings —one by way of Windsor and Wiseman's Ferry and the other by the Great Northern Highway, through Hornsby, via Peat's Ferry. The latter route has just been opened to traffic. The track is a perfect one and shortens the distance considerably.

Five miles after crossing the Hawkesbury Bridge, the Woy Woy Tunnel is reached, which is a mile in length. On emerging from it at the northern end a very pleasant sight meets the eye, the scene unfolded being that of one of the upper reaches of the Brisbane Water. A mile farther on the Woy Woy Station is reached.

Woy Woy is the centre of a famous tourist district, which is exceptionally popular as a fishing ground. (See Notes on Fishing by R. Eastway, Page 33). Surfing is safe. A new road has been constructed to the Ocean Beach.

From Sydney the distance by rail is 45 miles. Fares: 1st class 5/9 and 2nd class 4/2. Woy Woy may be reached by road, via Wiseman's Ferry, or by the Great Northern Highway, via Peat's Ferry, which is the popular route and considerably shorter.

GOSFORD.

Gosford, one of the principal tourist resorts north of Sydney, is picturesquely situated at the head of Brisbane Water.

It is equidistant between Sydney and Newcastle, being only 1½ hours run by train from the former. It is a refreshment station at which all trains stop, consequently it has the most frequent country service in the State.

The distance by road, via Wiseman's Ferry, is just over 100 miles, but by the Great Northern Highway, just opened, the distance has been reduced to 51 miles.

The Gosford District is noted for fruit growing, particularly citrus fruits. Dairying, timber getting and stone quarrying are also carried on.

Regular motor services run from Gosford to Terrigal, Avoca, Wamberal and Tuggerah Lakes, all of which are favourite watering places and recognised fishing spots. (See Notes on Fishing by R. Eastway, Page 33).

A fine Race Course has been established at West Gosford at a cost of over £22,000.

Gosford is lighted by electricity, supplied from Newcastle, by the N.S.W. Government Railway Department.

Accommodation is obtainable at the hotels and boarding houses. Furnished cottages are also available.

The local stores cater for the needs of visitors.

A tourist and holiday resort of 1,200 acres at the crossing of Mooney Creek, 14 miles from Peat's Ferry. This section is very rich in fine scenery, shady fern gullies and interesting walks.

Amongst its features are three navigable streams—Mooney, Little Mooney and Flood's Creeks. Good boating, fishing and safe bathing. By motor boat, the whole of the Hawkesbury and its tributaries are within reach, and Palm Beach, Newport and Brisbane Water can also be visited.

Somersby Falls and Gorge, and Arthur's Fall on Flood's Creek, are scenes of rugged grandeur, and in good seasons wild flowers of all descriptions abound.

In the district are aboriginal carvings, which are of interest to visitors, also a "Borah" Ground and "Cave" (overlooking Mooney Bridge), which is a reputed aboriginal burying place, and is thickly printed with their ancient markings.

WYONG.

Wyong—one of our main Northern towns, reached by Railway 41 miles from Newcastle and 63 miles from Sydney. Main Sydney to Newcastle Road runs right through the town. Motorists come every Sunday from Newcastle and surrounding Districts for the beautiful coastal scenery. Wyong is the getting off ground for the Tuggerah Lakes and The Entrance. The Lakes consist of three Lakes, the largest is 10 miles long and 3 mile wide. There are no sharks in the Lakes, no oysters or sand flies which makes it ideal for children; while at The Entrance and Chinaman's Bay the surf is very good. At Chinaman's Bay, 1 mile from The Entrance, there is a natural ocean bathing pool which is perfectly safe. It has a population in the town of about 1500, and in the district, of about 8,500.

The chief industries are dairying, poultry farming, orcharding, mixed farming, citrus growing (packing shed on modern lines) and fishing. It also possesses an up-to-

The district, a few years back, was an important centre for the Timber industry, which is still being carried on, though not so extensively as in former years.

Cheap electric current and water power one mile radius around the town.

Included in the township are Stores, Shops, Churches, places of amusement, a Picture Palace, and a number of Hotels. The Commercial Banking Company, the Commonwealth Bank, the Government Savings Bank, and the Rural Bank are also established there, and there is a local Newspaper.

Scattered around the district are a number of small farmers occupying areas of from 5 to 15 acres.

There is also a local Racecourse and Show Ground, both of which are immensely popular, and are well attended from Metropolitan and Northern centres.

The Wyong River is immediately at the town and is the starting point for the launch and motor bus services to the different beauty spots across the Lakes. This river is one of the most beautiful in New South Wales, being about 4 miles in length, and on either side are natural beauties most pleasing to the eye. This river terminates at the entrance to the Lakes.

During the holiday season, thousands leave Wyong for the different popular resorts situated on these Lakes,—in fact, the whole district is one of real progress.

TUGGERAH.

THE ENTRANCE, Beautiful Tuggerah Lakes.

The most superb holiday resort in N.S.W. may be reached from Newcastle in about 2½ hours and from Sydney in 3½ hours. Take Train to WYONG (63 miles North of Sydney), thence by Carlyon's Bus Service.

The entrance is situated 7 miles across the Lake, and has a happy combination of Lake and Ocean, divided by a strip of sandy beach not more than 100 yards wide through which runs the channel to the Pacific.

THE ENTRANCE is the Fisherman's paradise; both Lake and Ocean Fishing may be indulged in, and practically every variety of fish is in abundance. Bait may be procured locally. Schnapper parties are catered for. Prawning is very popular on the Lakes.

Bathers may enjoy both Lake and Ocean bathing. The beaches are perfect, and the Lake is particularly safe for children; there are no sharks.

NEWCASTLE.

Its Attractions for the Tourist.

Borne in upon us constantly is the truth of the old saying, "Distant hills look greenest." Newcastle is only sixty miles in a direct line from Sydney, yet it is comparatively unknown to the great majority of residents of the metropolis. When told that, in and around Newcastle, are some of the most beautiful sea and lake scenes in Australia, they are astonished. Yet the statement is no more than the bare truth.

An English gentleman, resident in Newcastle for a few years, and who had travelled in many lands, said he has seen nowhere more beautiful seascapes than are to be viewed from the higher portion of the City of Newcastle. How many Sydney people have looked upon these wonderful paintings of Nature?

The beaches of Newcastle are more widely known, for visiting surfing enthusiasts and others have gone back home to take the story of the yellow sands which are seen only on this northern section of the sea coast of New South Wales, and which are like unto the golden sands of the islands. They have spoken, too, of the delightful surfing which may be enjoyed only five minutes' walk from the Post Office, of the splendid ocean baths, cut out of the solid rock, and of the less-frequented but duly-appreciated Bogey Hole—a swimming pool made by the convicts for one of the Commandants at Newcastle a century ago, a pool which is filled by the breakers which curl up over the face of the rock.

Only a few miles from Newcastle, to the south, are equally beautiful seascapes and beaches, particularly at The Bluff, Dudley, where the prominent headland, Redhead, juts out into the sea. From there to the entrance of Lake Macquarie stretches a continuous length of beach for nine miles—known as The Nine-Mile Beach.

But one of the greatest attractions of the Newcastle District is Lake Macquarie, a splendid expanse of water, with about 120 miles of shore-line, and many pretty bays, especially on the western side and at the southern end. The extreme length of the Lake is about 25 miles, and it affords unrivalled opportunities for sailing, motor-boat racing, and for boating generally, while many fine baths are available for swimmers. It is the holiday resort and recreation ground of the Newcastle and Maitland districts, with a population of 200,000 people; and now that the Sydney-Newcastle Highway is completed, it must become one of the most popular resorts of motorists from the metropolis. A branch of the Royal Motor Yacht Club was established three years ago at Toronto, on the Lake, and during the summer season holds regular racing and carnival days. Three strong Sailing Clubs also provide excellent sport under sail for six months in the year.

To the northward of Newcastle is another wonderful sheet of water—Port Stephens. This and Lake Macquarie are undoubtedly the two most beautiful and expansive lakes along the Australian coast; and with the making of good roads up to Port Stephens, it must come into its own as one of the chief tourists resorts of the great district of which Newcastle is the centre.

The angler will also find excellent sport at Port Stephens—something which is not in evidence at Lake Macquarie, owing to the ceaseless dragging of the Lake by net fishermen, although the Government has promised the passage of a measure which should do something toward protecting the fisheries of Lake Macquarie.

NEWCASTLE.

In addition to the attractions mentioned, the day is coming when river trips up the Hunter and Paterson and Williams Rivers will open to tourists the beauties of these streams; and Newcastle will, in a few years, be the jumping-off ground for thousands of people who will find their way to the Barrington Tops—mountains unrivalled in Australia for the views to be had from their summits, and possessing along their sides virgin forests, streams, and waterfalls which well repay the traveller who goes there to-day, in the somewhat primitive conditions which now prevail.

Newcastle is a centre which must attract tourists, and with modern highways and the improved train services now provided, great numbers of people will make their way there, not only from Sydney, but from all over Australia. The hotel accommodation in Newcastle, in some of the suburbs and at Toronto, is excellent.

PATERSON.

Paterson, situated on the right bank of the river of the same name, 132 miles by rail from Sydney. Fares from Sydney: 1st class 16/10 and 2nd class 12/-, while from Newcastle they are 3/3 and 2/6 for 1st and 2nd classes respectively.

The district is partly an agricultural one, broken up into numerous small farms; and in addition to cereal and root crops, large quantities of fruit of all kinds, particularly oranges and grapes, are grown, also tobacco.

Owing to its low site and the lofty hills that environ it, it is at times liable to destructive floods. The uplands are mostly of rich loam over sandstone, and the flats are all flood or alluvial deposit, varying from 5 to 18 feet in depth.

The produce of the district comprises cheese, butter, bacon, poultry, etc., and, in addition, oaten and lucerne hay.

Stroud, one of the oldest settlements north of the Hawkesbury, is situated a short distance from the Karuah River, 31 miles north of Raymond Terrace.

In the early days of the Colony, the country residence of the State Governor was at Stroud, which was then reached by boat to Booral and by road from there. In the town are silos which were built by convict labour.

Stroud is a prosperous town, having a good water supply.

The district, which is noted for its excellence of climate and beauty of scenery, is an agricultural and pastoral one, well watered, with an abundance of the finest timber, which is dealt with at the local mills. Maize is also extensively grown all round the district.

Stroud was formerly the headquarters of the Australian Agricultural Company, to whom a grant of 464,640 acres was

A Grand Stand has been erected in the Show Ground as a Soldiers' Memorial. The Annual Show, which attracts people from the surrounding districts, is held in March or April.

The distance by rail from Sydney to Stroud Road is 165 miles. Fares: 1st class £1/4/1 and 2nd class 16/10. From Newcastle the fares are: 1st class 10/4 and 2nd class 7/3.

When travelling by road, the distance from Newcastle is 46 miles, Raymond Terrace 31 miles and Dungog 18 miles, while Gloucester to the north of Stroud, is 31 miles away.

GLOUCESTER.

Gloucester, originally an out station of the Australian Agricultural Company's Imperial grant, was subdivided by the Gloucester Estate Syndicate twenty-five years ago, and is now the centre of a flourishing district. The town is 194 miles from Sydney by rail, and is on the main North Coast Road, which within the Gloucester Shire is maintained in excellent condition. The population of the town is 1500, and town and Shire area inclusive 3700. Main industries are dairying and cattle raising, Gloucester being an important store stock market. The old gold diggings of Copeland are within ten miles by fair road. Copeland is mostly noted to-day for its citrus orchards and its magnificent brush clad and foresight of its founders. It is the business town and outlet for most of the centres on the Upper Manning, as also for the Comboyne and the Bulga. These two last-named districts have been making wonderful progress during the past few years. The Comboyne has been opened up to a very great extent, and the opening of the Bulga is now being pushed on in this respect.

It is from Wingham that tourists will enjoy the beautiful scenery, which abounds on all sides of the road leading to the noted Ellenborough Falls, while just above Bobin are also some excellent falls, and again on the Comboyne there are many.

The Wingham Brush, within a stone's throw of the town, and its Central Park, all tend to make it a charming place at which to spend a holiday. Isabella Street runs right through to the Wingham Wharf, and the Brush stands out on each side of the eastern end of this thoroughfare very prominently and very pleasingly. The Manning River at Wingham is a fine stream, and the further up one goes, the more picturesque the watercourse becomes. The steamers of the N.C.S.N. Co., ply regularly to Wingham—or, rather as regularly as the condition of the bar entrance at Harrington will permit. The road from Burrell Creek right through Wingham to Taree is now a main road. By coming direct to Wingham, the route to Ellenborough Falls is shortened, as also to the Comboyne.

An effort is being made to get a substantial grant to have the road between Wingham and Taree made one of the best on the North Coast. It carries an immense traffic.

Wingham was incorporated in the year 1889. Municipal Government there has been carried out on progressive lines. To-day, the town has its electric lighting scheme, same having been installed by private enterprise a few years ago, but now supplied by the Wingham Rural Co-op., Society Ltd.

The Municipal Council has also adopted concrete culverts and footways, and the system of having concrete culverts, footways and guttering where possible. A water scheme has also been established.

A fine Soldiers' Memorial has been erected at Wingham. Newspaper— Wingham has one newspaper, "The Wingham Chronicle," owned by a local company, and managed and edited by Mr. F. A. Fitzpatrick. The paper has always ably championed the wants of the Upper Manning, and its editor has also evinced considerable interest in the early days of the district and pioneers. In 1914 he issued a book relating to same, entitled "Peeps into the Past," and he has issued several smaller volumes since. Mr. G. S. Hill, of Bungay, has also rendered yeoman service in bringing the capabilities and the beauty spots of the district before the public eye. No one has done more.

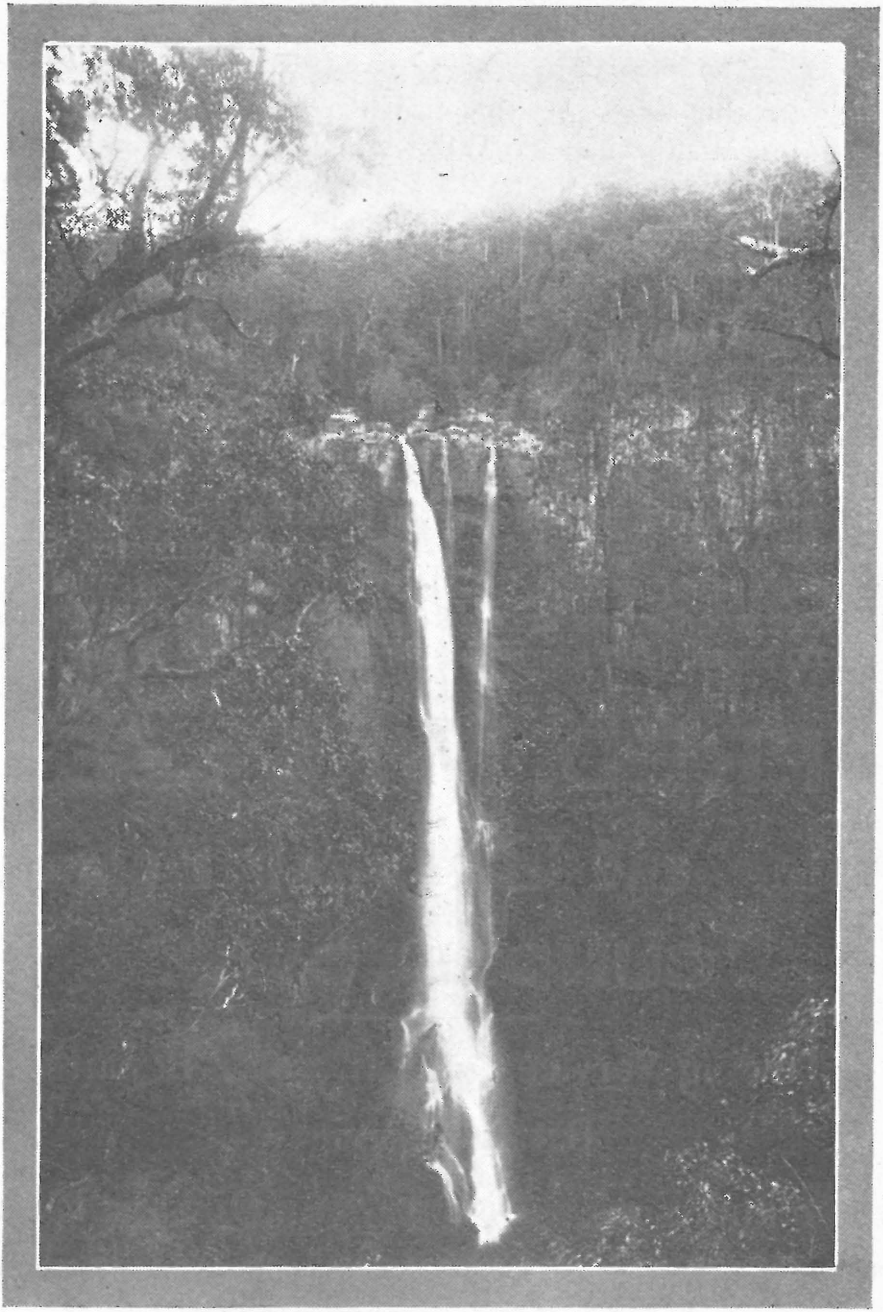

THE BULGA.

(Information kindly supplied by the Editor, "Wingham Chronicle.")

The Bulga Plateau, like that of the Comboyne, is within easy distance of Wingham. The Bulga is "The Land of Whips of Timber—Timber Unlimited," in fact. Hard and softwoods abound there in plenty. Just now a couple of sawmills are being established right in the heart of this giant timber belt, and big things are expected of them. Mr. H. Machin is the managing spirit of one, while Mr. S. J. Donaldson acts in a similar capacity so far as the other is concerned. Apart from its excellent timber resources, the Bulga Plateau stands out well on its own as a dairying centre, also as a tourist resort rejoicing in the possession of many beauty spots, waterfalls, wild and rugged.

The Ellenborough Falls have a drop, practically speaking, of 500ft. The water does just about touch a small projection some 200 ft. down, but nothing to speak of. The Ellenborough River eventually empties its watery burden into the Hastings River. In addition to the Ellenborough Falls, there are also very picturesque waterfalls in the vicinity, known as Bulga Falls. At Elands, there is a Post Office, presided over by Mrs. Thurgood.

In the Spring and Christmas seasons of the year, the Bulga is a veritable paradise for those who seek in Nature's Garden for the aesthetic and the beautiful. Here we find the rugged and awe-inspiring beauty of the uplands, far from the sordid environment of the average daily life. The outlook grips, the atmosphere braces, and the possession of life jumps to a priceless heritage. Tourists should see it before the toiling pioneer devastates the growing beauties of nature. The brush is clothed with creepers, glorious elkhorns, staghorns and other members of the cycad family. The orchids, of which there are many varieties, are in full bloom. Sparkling brooklets, tumbling and ever rushing from the hill-tops, blend their song with that of the brush bird life.

Ellenborough Falls, Bulga Tablelands

Just on the edge of the brush grow magnificent and majestic eucalypti, such as Tallowwood, Grey Gum, Flooded Gum, and in some parts noble Blackbutt. These rear their heads in search of their life's blood (the sunlight) to heights of 100 feet before sending out the first limb. The four timbers mentioned are the best in the Commonwealth for shipbuilding, and, in fact, for any purpose where strength and elasticity count. The brush itself contains in abundance its own invaluable soft-wood timbers, such as Silky Oak, Beefwood, Beech, Cedar, Stavewood, Coachwood, Ashwood, Bean, Rosewood, Black Pine, Bonewood, Yellowwood, and last, but by no means the least, the beautiful straight-growing Mountain Water Gum, which is equal to any imported timber for aeroplane or vehicle building and handles of all kinds. The latter wood grows in large quantities all over the Plateau of 60,000 acres. No tourist to this part of the North Coast should complete his journey until he has seen the Bulga, easily accessible from Wingham or Taree by car at a very reasonable tariff.

The road to the Plateau is now in good order. It is worthy of note that the road from Bobin, round the mountain sides to the Bulga Plateau was one of the few big road-making undertakings carried out by day labor during the regime of the Hon. Arthur Griffith, during his term as Minister for Works. It occupied a lengthy period in construction and cost a power of money. Mr. Braithwaite was the expert officer who mapped the road out.

cellent camping is afforded tourists, who throughout the season make this a halting place. The town is well laid out, avenues of trees having been planted. The river scenery is very fine, and swimming and fishing may be indulged in by visitors.

The North Coast S.N. Co. run a regular weekly cargo steamer to Cundletown.

The popular seaside resort of Harrington is 18 miles from Cundletown, the branch road being at Coopernook (10 miles), after which the road runs for 8 miles to the coast.

Churches: Church of England, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, and Methodist. Schools: Public School and Convent. Memorial Hall, garages, stores, refreshment rooms, etc. Pictures are shown every Saturday night.

COOPERNOOK.

A flourishing town on the Lansdowne River, a navigable tributary of the Manning River, is 250 miles from Sydney by rail and 146 miles from Newcastle. The fares from Sydney are: 1st class £2/1/2 and 2nd class £1/8/3, while from Newcastle they are £1/8/5 and 19/3 respectively for 1st and 2nd class.

The North Coast S.N. Co. maintain a weekly service, carrying cargo only.

Motor cars run daily to Taree (14 miles); fare 3/- return.

Like many of our New South Wales towns, this one has been built two miles away from the railway station, but cars meet all trains.

The hotel is one of which the town may well be proud.

Excellent camping grounds are available.

This is the business, sporting and social centre of the district, which is noted for its wild flowers.

There is much to interest tourists—swimming, fishing, boating, shooting, and visits to the surrounding sights, both sea and forest.

Harrington, noted for fishing and surfing, is 8 miles distant.

From The Lookout a magnificent view is obtained of the ocean and rivers in the distance.

The Pinchgut Road, in the Bangalow Forest, is one of the most picturesque roads on the North Coast.

HARRINGTON.

Situated 22 miles from Taree, 8 miles from Coopernook, at the mouth of the Manning River, is the township of Harrington. It is connected with Taree by daily motor service, the fare being 6/- for the single journey and 10/- return.

Excellent fish may be had for the catching, and beautiful oysters are in abundance. There is a safe natural swimming pool and a good surfing beach.

Accommodation may be obtained at a first-class hotel, as well as at boarding-houses, while week-end cottages are also available. Harrington is very popular with camping motorists.

Shortly after leaving Kendall the motorist comes to the township of Kew, on the Camden Haven River, situated in the midst of a big timber country.

Timber getting is the chief industry. It is, in addition, a dairying district.

The hotel accommodation at Kew is excellent. Tourists fishing at Laurieton usually make this township (Kew) their headquarters.

The road from Kew to Laurieton is good.

Laurieton, with a population of 520, is situated on the Camden Haven River, 7 miles from Kendall, at which station visitors alight and are then conveyed by motor cars. Kew is 6 miles distant.

The town is in a very picturesque location, being at the foot of the North Brother Mountain, and in addition to its beautiful natural surroundings much has been done to add to its charm by the planting of ornamental trees in the well laid out streets.

Laurieton is another North Coast township rapidly gaining favour as a tourist resort, and this can readily be understood on account of the delightful surroundings—wild flowers grow in abundance, and there are many enchanting water scenes.

WAUCHOPE.

Situated in the centre of the rich Hastings River district, Wauchope is a thriving and progressive town, with a population of about 2,000. On the North Coast Railway line, it is 282 miles from Sydney. The Oxley Highway, intended to connect the Tablelands and the West with the Coast, passes through Wauchope, and is now being constructed. Port Macquarie, the nearest sea-coast town, is 12 miles distant by road and 17 miles by water.

The town is called after Captain Wauch, who settled near the present site of the town in the days of the convicts at Port Macquarie. He called his house "Wauch's Hope," hence we have Wauchope.

The climatic conditions around this part are par-excellence. For the tourist or "holiday-man" the scenery is wonderful, especially on the Upper Hastings. The town is known on the Central North Coast as "The Sportsman's Paradise." There are facilities for cricket, football, tennis, golf, etc. Keen fishermen and hunters are also assured of a good time. Road and river excursions to the seaside can be had any day in the week.

Many beautiful views of scenery are obtainable within a few miles of the town, while there are many delightful spots available for camping tourists.

Few country towns have made such progress during the past five years. A large number of new businesses have been opened, whilst the greater portion of High Street consists of new business premises recently erected. The local Dairy Company treats a large quantity of cream daily, while the timber industry is a most important one, providing employment for large numbers of men. Wauchope is the proud possessor of one of the finest War Memorials in any country town, consisting of a tower over 40 feet high, with clock and striker, the latter being audible for miles around.

The town is the headquarters of the Hastings Shire Council, the President of which is Mr. P. H. Secombe, the Shire Clerk being Mr. R. W. Shaw, and Engineer Mr. E. E. Booth.

Distance from Sydney 174 miles by steamer or by rail to Wauchope, thence regular car service 12 miles to the township. Rail fares from Sydney, 1st class £2/7/3, 2nd class £1/12/3, or from Newcastle £1/14/6 and £1/3/4, 1st and 2nd class respectively. Car fare from Wauchope, 5/- each way.

Port Macquarie is rapidly becoming known as the most ideal tourist fishing resort on the North Coast, if not in the whole of N.S.W. The fishing, both inside the harbour and on the ocean beaches, is recognised as being the best available on any part of the N.S.W. Coast, whilst the surfing beach is practically right in the centre of the town, and its safety is shown by the fact that the records of the town do not include a solitary surfing accident.

Relics of the old convict days still interest visitors, the principal ones being the old Cemetery and St. Thomas' Church of England, which is one of the five Macquarie churches, and the only one of the old churches in N.S.W. the interior of which has not been modernised.

PORT MACQUARIE.

Port Macquarie is a sportsman's paradise, the golf links being noted as one of the best country links in N.S.W., while tennis, cricket, fishing and shooting are all obtainable at any time.

Good picnic places abound, some of the tropical vegetation along the beaches being unsurpassible, while a motor launch trip by either the Hastings or Wilson rivers, both of which flow into the Port, is a scenic trip very hard to beat. Three hotels and several boarding-houses cater well for the many tourists, while the local Council has a camping reserve, at which all necessary conveniences are available at a nominal cost.

Tourists desiring to visit this historical, beautiful spot are advised always to secure accommodation several months in advance, otherwise they are apt to find all accommodation booked up.

tion. Maize grows particularly well, and large quantities are exported annually. Sales of Butter and Pigs also provide large turnovers. The timber industry is also an important one—girders and sleepers being regularly shipped to Sydney from Greenhill (4 miles from Kempsey), and in addition four mills are in constant operation in the district.

While the Macleay has varied mineral deposits these have not been worked to any extent. Silver, Tin, Copper, Antimony, Iron and Molybdenite have all been found, but no gold. It is interesting to note that some of the marble columns in the Sydney Art Gallery were quarried from the deposits on the Upper Macleay (within 10 miles of Kempsey). Copper has been exploited near Bellbrook, and 18 miles from there on the Carrai Plateau tin mining operations are carried on. Gold has been found here in small quantities, as well as precious stones.

Visitors may indulge in shooting, Black Duck, Teal, Snipe, Quail, Flock and Green Pigeons being obtainable. Fishing also forms another pastime. At Crescent Head there is splendid surf fishing, black bream abounding here. Other places, equally as good from a fisherman's point of view, are Maguire's Crossing, via Gladstone, Smoky Cape, Jerseyville, Trial Bay, South West Rocks, The Entrance, and Stuart's Point—all accessible by car from Kempsey. Freshwater fish may be caught in the river above Kempsey.

A Chamber of Commerce was formed in 1914 and has achieved excellent results for the District.

Tourists to the Macleay should not fail to visit South West Rocks, Crescent Head, and the Morparrabah and Sebastopool Caves, as well as the places mentioned above.

URUNGA.

Urunga, a beautiful township at Bellinger Heads, is becoming popular as a fishing and general tourist resort. The beaches are large, and surfing may be indulged in with safety. Surfers have been specially catered for by the erection of sheds on the beach, also a diving platform.

Excellent accommodation is obtainable at "Ocean View," a new and most up-to-date hotel, also at the boarding-houses.

The golf links and tennis courts are within a few minutes' walk of the town, which is achieving a reputation for its picturesqueness.

The North Coast S.N. Co. run a weekly cargo boat to Urunga, which is the port for the district.

Daily car services (Sundays excepted) run to Bellingen, 10 miles distant; fare 5/- single trip and 8/6 return; also to Dorrigo, 30 miles north.

The timber trade, dairying and maize-growing form the staple industries.

The climate is moderate—in fact, semi-tropical.

From Sydney (360 miles) the fare by rail is £3/1/11 1st class and £2/2/1 2nd class, and from Newcastle (256 miles) £2/9/6 and £1/13/4 for 1st and 2nd class respectively.

Population, 1,000.

BELLINGEN.

On the Bellinger River, 9 miles from Raleigh, which is on the Main North Coast Railway Line, from which township the journey may be made by car.

From Urunga the distance is 10 miles, and from Coff's Harbour 23 miles. Car services have been inaugurated from both towns.

Bellingen is a dairying district—Butter, Bacon and Pigs, are regularly shipped to the Sydney market. Maize and Citrus Fruit are grown extensively, while the Timber Industry is also of considerable importance.

Arsenic and gold mining are carried on.

It is said that the Bellinger River is the most picturesque portion of the North Coast. The mountains surrounding it enhance the grandeur of the river beauties, being densely wooded with valuable timber. The well-known Dorrigo Mountain stands out prominently.

The climate of Bellingen is equable—almost sub-tropical. In summer a mean temperature of 78 to 80 is usually recorded, and the annual rainfall averages 66 to 70 inches.

Bellingen possesses one of the best golf courses on the North Coast. Visitors are always welcome.

Tourists may go in for shooting, swimming, boating and fishing all along the river.

DORRIGO.

Dorrigo, situated in the centre of a district covering approximately 350,000 acres of exceptionally fertile land, is 20 miles from Bellingen, 87 miles from Armidale, and 28 miles from Raleigh. A branch railway line connects Dorrigo with Coff's Harbour. The through fare from Sydney to Dorrigo is £3/17/- 1st class and £2/12/2 2nd class.

As Dorrigo is 2,400 feet above sea-level, the climate is similar to that of the Blue Mountains, being cold and bracing in winter and balmy and invigorating in summer, so may be regarded as the North Coast's Sanatorium.

The drive from Bellingen is most picturesque; two waterfalls are passed, and the grandeur of the scenery cannot be rivalled. Motorists should not fail to visit Dorrigo, which came into existence with remarkable rapidity, almost equalling the growth of some American townships, intensively cultivated areas and dairy farms having been established where previously a dense forest existed.

The town is lighted by electricity from the Hydro-Electric Station.

The main industries are dairying, fruit growing and timber-getting.

The library attached to the Literary Institute contains 1,500 books. Pictures are shown at the Institute on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Various beauty spots may be visited from Dorrigo, some of them being:—Dangar Falls (72 ft.), 1 mile from Dorrigo;

Walmaleys Lookout (3,000 ft.), 5 miles; Dome Mount (3,230 ft.), 4 miles; Ebor Falls (320 ft.), 32 miles; Little Murray (picnic ground), 7 miles; golf links, ½ mile; Ebor Lookout (4,600 ft.), 35 miles; Wollomombi Falls (1,000 ft.), 55 miles; Coutts Wake (trout fishing), 12 miles; Nymboida River (cod fishing), 14 miles; Public Tennis Courts (lighted), ¼ mile; First Fall (Dorrigo Mountain), 5 miles; Second Fall, 6 miles; Famous Mountain Road and Floral Reserve, 2½ miles; Beilsdown Creek (trout fishing), ½ mile; Hydro-Electric Plant, 1½ miles; Megan Falls, 11 miles; The Lookout (4,090 ft.), 12 miles; The Cascade and Swimming Pool, 3¼ miles; Ritchie's Lookout (3,110 ft.), 6 miles; Point Lookout, Ebor (5,200 ft.), 45 miles.

The population of the Plateau is 5,000. The average rainfall is 87 inches.

NORTH BEACH.

North Beach, 2 miles from Repton, is one of the safest surfing beaches on the coast.

Furnished cottages are available, also camping grounds, for which a fee of 1/- per week is charged, and on which is an 8,000 gallon tank of water. A hall and piano have also been provided for campers. Boats may be hired. There are good swimming baths.

Rock and ocean fishing may be indulged in, and an oyster lease has been set aside for the use of visitors.

Sawtell, one of the coming pleasure resorts on the North Coast, is on the Main Line 373 miles north of Sydney. Like Coff's Harbour and Urunga the railway station is situated on the sea beach. When motoring Sawtell is reached 3½ miles off the main road.

From Raleigh the distance is 9 miles, and from Coff's Harbour (on the north) 4 miles.

The township is a progressive one—a Progress Association and Chamber of Commerce have been established. A modern Picture Theatre has been erected.

Surfing and fishing are the main attractions, both being excellent. Swimming in the lake is popular and is entirely safe for children. A local Surf Club has been formed.

An oyster lease, 600 yards long, has been set aside for the use of tourists.

COFF'S HARBOUR.

Originally known as Korff's Harbour, named in honour of Captain John Korff, who discovered it in 1850. Coff's Harbour is on the main North Coast Railway 377 miles north of Sydney.

From Sydney the fares are: 1st class, £3/5/1, and 2nd class, £2/4/2, and from Newcastle, £2/12/6 and £1/15/4 respectively.

The town is divided into two portions, approximately 1½ miles apart—Coff's Harbour and Coff's Harbour Jetty, both towns having Banks, Post Offices, Stores, Hotels, etc.

The main road passes through Coff's Harbour, while the Railway Station is at Coff's Harbour Jetty—opposite the Jetty.

The Harbour is an artificial one—a breakwater has been built on the northern side, and one on the south side is now in course of construction.

The port is becoming an important one, the timber from the Dorrigo, Bellinger and Orara Districts being shipped from here, also dairy produce from these centres, which contain rich farming lands.

Paspalum and tomato growing are gone in for extensively. Citrus fruits, grapes, plums and tropical friuts do well.

Dairying is one of the main industries—a large butter factory having been established at the Jetty.

The surfing facilities at Coff's Harbour Jetty are excellent—the beach is large and surfing is safe. Well equipped dressing sheds have been erected. At the mouth of Coff's Creek, near Park Beach, are shallow lagoons which make a perfect bathing place for children.

At the back of the beach is a splendid reserve with adequate water supply and sanitary arrangements, for the use of campers and picnic parties.

During week-ends and on holidays the local Surf Club have patrols on the beach.

Fishermen cannot do better than spend a vacation at Coff's Harbour where they have the choice of both deep sea fishing and river angling. Mackerel, Schnapper, Groper, Cod, Kingfish, Sea Perch, Sergeant Baker, Leather Jacket, Red Perch, Sea Mullet, Red Rock Cod, Lobster, etc., abound here, and in the rivers and creeks Flathead, Bream, Drummer, Black Bream, Spotted Cod, Jew Fish, Whiting, Tailer, Garfish, Sole and Herrings may be caught.

As a tourist resort Coff's Harbour is an ideal place. Various points of interest may be visited from here, including Macauley's Headland, Korora and Moonee, Solitary Island and Woolgoolga.

Both Coff's Harbour and Coff's Harbour Jetty are lighted by electricity. There are two Picture Theatres showing films on Saturdays and Wednesdays.

The School of Arts is up-to-date, having a well equipped library attached to it.

CORAMBA.

Coramba, with a population of 340 (district 2,000) is situated on the beautiful Orara River, a tributary of the Clarence River.

As the Coramba Sawmilling Co. (hardwood) and the Butter Factory of the Orara Dairy Co. are both running continuously, they make Coramba a busy centre for these industries.

The office of the Dorrigo Shire Council is situated at Coramba.

The Show Ground is one of the most beautiful in the State, and is well worth a visit.

Coramba is on the main line, 390 miles from Sydney, 10 miles from Coffs Harbour, 16 miles from Glenreagh, and 42 miles from South Grafton. The fares from Sydney are: 1st class 67/4 and 2nd class 45/8, while from Newcastle they are 54/11 and 36/11 respectively.

The Government Savings Bank and the Commercial Banking Co. of Sydney have both established branches.

SOUTH GRAFTON.

When travelling north, South Grafton, on the south bank of the Clarence River, is reached 432 miles from Sydney by rail. Steam punts and ferries are the means of transport between here and Grafton.

South Grafton (population 2,000) is a separate Municipality. The offices of the Orara and Nymboida Shire Councils are located here.

It is a progressive township, having water supply and electric light, obtained from the Nymboida Hydro-Electricity Plant.

South Grafton is the starting off point for service cars running to Glen Innes, a distance of 108 miles. Single fare £1/10/-, return £2/15/-.

Rail fare from Glen Innes to Sydney: 1st class £3/12/11 and 2nd class £2/9/5. To Newcastle the fare is: 1st class £3/1/1 and 2nd class £2/1/1.

Like its sister town, the streets of South Grafton have been well laid out and planted with trees and grass plots.

On leaving South Grafton, the Clarence River is crossed by steam punt or ferry. At the present time rail passengers leave the train at South Grafton, and are conveyed across the river by motor vehicles to the station at Grafton. A fine steel bridge is in course of construction, and it is expected to be open to traffic in 1931. The North Coast Railway (Sydney to Murwillumbah) will then be complete.

Grafton is on the north bank of the Clarence River, 48 miles from the Heads. The river is a broad, navigable stream, along the banks of which at Grafton private residences have been erected.

The town is well laid out, and the streets planted with trees and island plots. The Jackarandah trees are particularly fine. Should tourists visit Grafton in November they will find these delightful trees in bloom.

We recommend motorists to stop over here, as the town—or City as it may be regarded—is very picturesque, and one of the best equipped in the State.

The advancement of this City is due to the efforts of the Municipal and Shire Councils during recent years, and great credit should be given for the good work achieved. Particular mention might be made of the Nymboida Hydro-Electricity Plant, which came into being through the work and foresight of a County Council, composed of the local governing bodies in the district. No financial assistance was sought for the scheme, which is now self-supporting. Electric light and power are supplied to both town and rural residents, as well as industries, at cheap rates.

The land along the river banks and the various islands in the stream are very fertile. Here sugar cane, maize, lucerne, vegetables, etc., are produced.

The back country, stretching to the Northern Tablelands, is composed of good lands, rich in valuable timbers, consequently this forms one of the important industries of the district, there being many sawmills at work.

A large trade is done in butter, and bacon, eggs, etc., are also shipped South in large quantities.

The City has gas, water and electricity supplies.

Grafton is the seat of the Anglican Bishop of Grafton.

It is the head of the Police District, and the office of the Copmanhurst Shire Council is established here.

Accommodation may be obtained at either hotels or boarding-houses.

The public buildings and business premises are of good design and modern.

Grafton is the shipping port of a rich and productive area, which is rapidly progressing. The North Coast S.N. Co.'s boats leave Sydney for Grafton on Tuesdays and Saturdays, carrying cargo only.

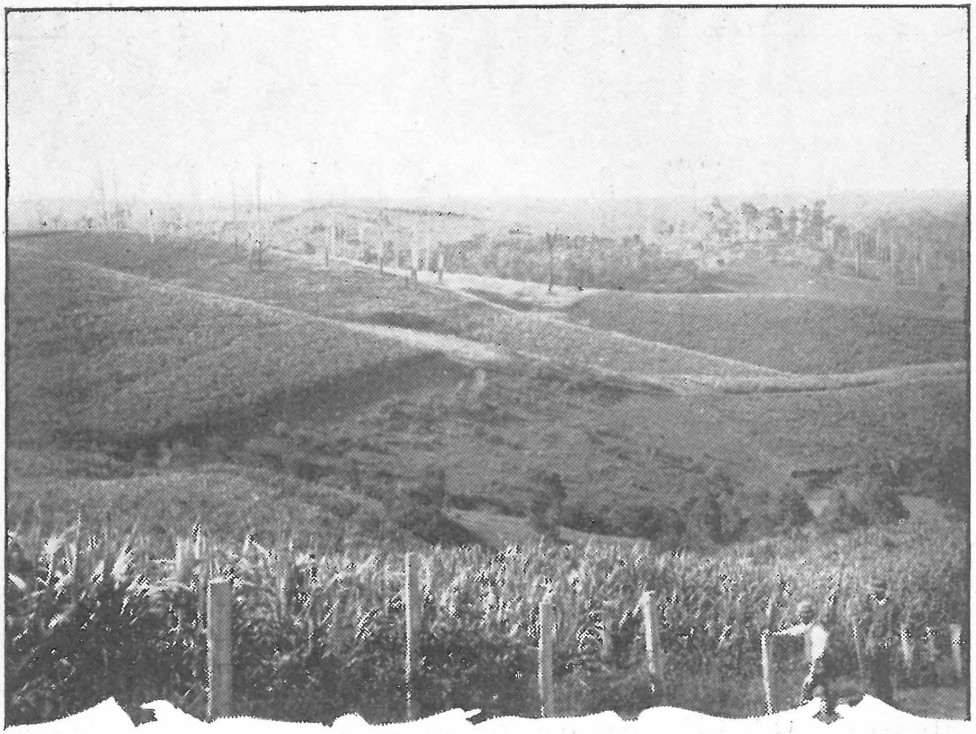

The Grafton Chamber of Commerce and the Primary Producers' Union both do excellent work.

Delightful trips may be made on the river by steamer, which daily makes the trip from Grafton to Yamba, at the mouth of the river, calling at various places en route. Single fare 4/-, return 8/-. The trip may also be made by car, calling at Ulmarra, Brushgrove, Woodford Lee, Robert's Creek and Palmer's Island—single fare 10/-, return 15/-.

Service cars for Glen Innes (distance 108 miles) depart from South Grafton. Single fare £1/10/-, return £2/15/-.

A cross-country trip may also be made by service car from Casino to Tenterfield (distance 86 miles), the fare being £1 for the single journey and £1/15/- return. The rail fare from Grafton to Casino is 14/8 1st class and 9/9 2nd class.

The distance from Grafton to Murwillumbah by rail is 147 miles. Fares: 1st class £1/10/10 and 2nd class £1/0/6.

Maclean, the next town of importance on the river, is 21 miles from Ulmarra.

MACLEAN.

On the right bank of the Clarence River, at the junction of the North and South Arms with the Main River, Maclean is an increasing town of much importance.

Yamba, the popular resort of the Clarence River residents is 11 miles by road from Maclean, and 14 miles by water. A daily motor service connects Maclean with Grafton, 29 miles distant. Fares, 7/6 single trip, and 15/- return (Sundays excepted).

Maclean is the centre of the sugar industry on the Clarence River and the main depot for the agricultural products on both sides of the river.

The dairying industry has expanded rapidly—10,469 milking cows being in the district. Mixed farming is gone in for—potatoes, tomatoes, beans, etc., growing abundantly. Unlike many of the other North Coast towns little is done in the timber trade. The growing of sugar cane forms one of the staple industries, the turnover last year being £100,000.

The Colonial Sugar Refining Co. Ltd., consider Yamba such an ideal place that they recently purchased a large block of land on which it is proposed to erect a bungalow for their officials.

There is a Church of England Rest House at Yamba for the use of the Clergymen of the Diocese of Grafton.

Two roads lead to Yamba—one from Grafton on the north side of the river, passing through Lawrence, and the alternative route on the south side from South Grafton via Ulmarra and Maclean. Yamba is distant 40 miles from Grafton, and 11 miles from Maclean.

Daily motor services (Sundays excepted) connect Grafton with Yamba. Single fare, 10/-; return, 15/-; and in addition river steamers run daily.

Woodburn, on the Richmond River, above Wardell, 22 miles from Lismore, 22 miles from Ballina, 11 miles from Coraki, and 7 miles from Evans Head.

The town is built on both sides of the river, a ferry service connecting the two sections.

Woodburn is the home of the rower, and was the scene of the World's Championship Contest between Jim Paddon and Barry.

The township receives its electric light supply from a plant installed at the leading hotel.

A daily mail and passenger service plies between Woodburn and Evans Head. The town is also connected by motor service with South Grafton, 62 miles distant, fare 20/- single, and £1/17/6 return; with Casino (32 miles),

EVANS HEAD.

The climate is a favourable one, both in summer and winter, and on this account tourists are attracted from all parts of New South Wales.

Evans Head, situated amidst beautiful natural scenery is fortunate in having both sea and river attractions. The surfing is excellent, and river swimming entirely safe for both young and old.

Boating, Tennis and Fishing (both for line and rock anglers) form the favourite pastimes. Launches are available for pleasure trips or deep-sea fishing. Camping grounds are available and tents may be hired for erection on same. Meat is delivered daily from Woodburn, also milk to the camping reserve.

Broadwater, on the Richmond River, is reached by car from Lismore, 33 miles distant, a daily service having been inaugurated. Single fare, 8/-; return, 12/-.

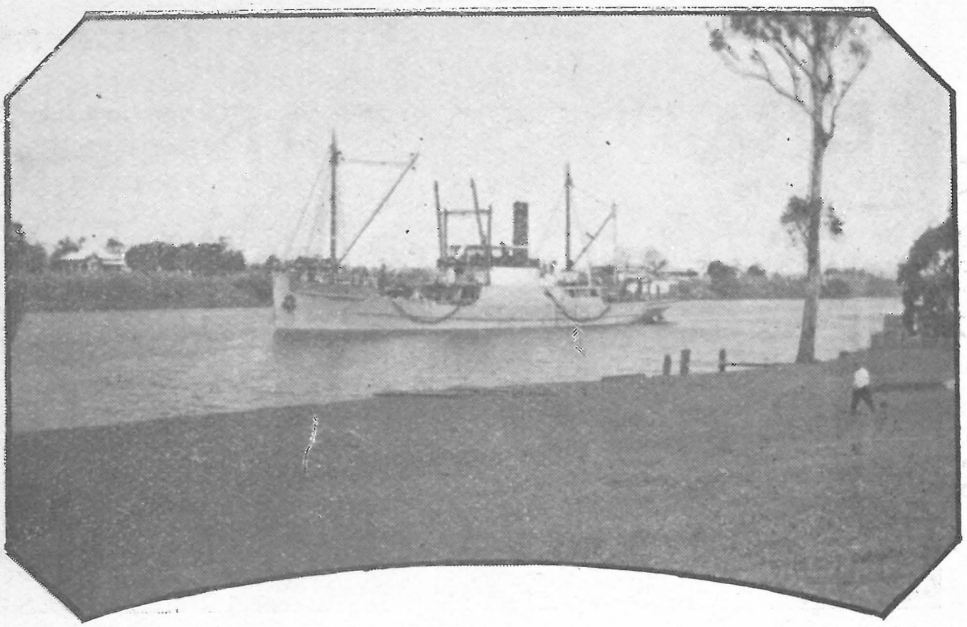

A good road leads from the townships to the beach (2 miles distant), which is popular as a camping ground for motorists. A good water supply has been connected and sanitation arranged.

Fishing is excellent and attracts people from the surrounding district. Bream and jewfish are plentiful.

The Colonial Sugar Refining Co. have a mill in operation at Broadwater employing 150 men.

Accommodation may be obtained at the hotel. Motorists may secure provisions, etc., at the local stores and refreshment rooms.

Broadwater is distant 16 miles from Ballina, 7 miles from Woodburn, and 5 miles from Wardell.

CORAKI.

Coraki stands on the Richmond River at the junction of the North and South Arms—the name meaning "meeting of the waters."

It is connected by good roads with Lismore (15 miles) and with Casino (19).

The main industry is dairying, which realises £128,000 a year, or 839 tons of butter turned out from the local Butter Factory.

A share of the timber for mills at Lismore and Ballina is cut from the bush around Coraki.

Maize, millet and potatoes are grown extensively. Grazing is also carried on by big landowners.

Motor tourists may camp on the river bank, where there is good river fishing, while perch are plentiful in the Bungawalbin Creek.

The town is lighted by electricity from the Municipal Light and Power Scheme.

The "Renalbo," a steamer of 1,000 tons, and the "Nimbin," a motor vessel of the same tonnage, run bi-weekly to Lismore, Woodburn and Ballina.

Plans are now out for a generating scheme on Bungawalbin Creek, which will supply the whole of the Richmond, both rural areas and towns.

The coal from the Bungawalbin deposit has been declared by experts to be equal to any yet found. It is expected a start will be made to exploit the deposit early in 1930.

Coraki is within easy distance of Evans Head.

There is a daily motor service between Coraki and Casino, Lismore, Woodburn, Chatsworth, Harwood, Maclean, Ulmarra and Grafton.

The North Coast S.N. Co. run a bi-weekly service, carrying both passengers and cargo.

The population of the town is 1,300.

CASINO.

..Casino, one of the best laid out towns on the North Coast, is situated at the head of the Richmond River proper, a little above navigation.

It is a progressive town with a population of 5,000 (district 9,500), and the residents are fortunate in having a good water supply and electricity.

Casino District is exceptionally rich dairying, maize and lucerne growing land. Pig raising is carried on extensively.

A large butter factory has been established at which the famous "Allowrie" brand of butter is manufactured; also other products bearing the same brand. Bacon, cheese and broom factories are also in operation.

The timber industry is an important one, there being a number of sawmills in the district which are constantly at work.

The prosperity of the district is evidenced by the fact that that seven Banks have Branches in Casino, viz.: Commercial Banking Co. of Sydney, National Bank of Australasia Ltd., Union Bank of Australia Ltd., English, Scottish & Australian Bank Ltd., Queensland National Bank Ltd., and the Government Savings Bank of N.S.W.

On the completion of the new Sydney-Brisbane Railway Line (via Kyogle) Casino will be an important junction and will then be only four hours run from Brisbane. At the present time the branch railway line extends to Kyogle only.

Visitors are welcome at the fine Golf Links (9 holes), Bowling, Tennis and Swimming Clubs and Ladies' Croquet Club. The town takes a prominent place in sport, and in addition to the clubs mentioned have Racing, Football and Cricket Clubs.

Talking pictures are shown nightly at the up-to-date open-air Picture Theatre, which is a veritable garden, the ferns in same alone being worth £1,000.

A new Intermediate High School has recently been erected at a cost of £16,000.

Accommodation is available, there being eight hotels in the town.

Casino is on the main North Coast Railway Line, 499 miles from Sydney. Fares: £4/7/10, and £3/0/2 for 1st and 2nd classes respectively; while from Newcastle they are £3/16/4 and £2/12/1 respectively.

KYOGLE.

From Casino a branch railway line runs to Kyogle, a distance of 20 miles. Regular motor services also run between Kyogle, Casino and Lismore.

Kyogle has been brought to the notice of the public in recent years on account of the publicity given the construction of the uniform gauge railway from this town to Brisbane, which is being proceeded with.

Kyogle, being at the foot of Fairy Mountain, is in the midst of fertile country. Dairying forms the chief industry. Bacon and butter factories are in constant operation. Maize growing is carried on extensively.

Timber getting is another important industry. Veneer works have been established locally.
The town is lighted by electricity.

LISMORE.

One of the most important towns on the North Coast, and a busy commercial centre, Lismore is situated at the junction of the Richmond River, with Wilson and Leycester Creeks, 70 miles from the Heads, at which the town of Ballina stands. The distance by road, however, is only 22 miles.

Lismore, with a population approaching 15,000 is the centre of one of the finest, largest and richest dairying districts in Australia, the population of which is in the vicinity of 60,000.

The Municipality celebrated its jubilee in 1929. Much credit is due to the Council for its progressiveness in providing for the comfort and health of residents by the installation of water, gas, electric light and sewerage services. The town is splendidly laid out, with wide streets, having adequate parking space for cars in the centre.

The City, for such it may well be called, ranking next to the City of Newcastle, enjoys other facilities, in addition to those mentioned, which are seldom found outside Capital Cities, such as bituminous roads, parks, swimming baths, bowling greens, golf links, tennis courts, musical societies and excellent educational arrangements.

The Lismore District is a veritable Garden of Eden, due to the volcanic formation of the land. The hills of deep red, chocolate to black loam are excellent for the growing of paspalum grass, which has been a contributing factor to the prosperity of the district. The flats are exceptionally rich, consequently produce first-class maize, lucerne, potatoes, sugar cane, bananas, etc. Dairying is naturally the principal industry, particular attention being continually paid to the improvement of the herds. Two butter factories with an output of 140 tons weekly are in operation. The bacon industry is of considerable magnitude. A large factory has been established at South Lismore. The Lismore Municipal Yards attract buyers from the Sydney and Brisbane markets, approximately 24,000 pigs being put through annually.

For shipping Lismore is ideally situated, the stream being navigable for 1,000 ton steamers right up to the town. The North Coast S.N. Co. run a regular service of steamers for the shipping of the products of the District.

The hotels and stores are all up-to-date. The public buildings and business premises are substantial, and denote the prosperity of the district.

Tourists should not fail to break the journey at Lismore, the City and surroundings offering many attractions from a scenic point of view. Well organised bus and car services convey visitors to all places of interest. Ballina (22 miles distant), Brunswick Heads (35 miles), and Evans Head (35 miles), are all popular with residents of Lismore as watering places and fishing resorts.

Lismore is 517 miles north of Sydney on the North Coast Line. From Sydney the fares are: 1st class £4/9/10, and 2nd class £3/1/6. From Newcastle £3/19/4, and £2/14/- for 1st and 2nd classes respectively.

Lismore is within easy access of Brisbane, being 61 miles by rail from Murwillumbah, from whence passengers may travel by car or steamer to Tweed Heads and thence by train to the Queen City of the North, or by car service direct from Lismore to Brisbane. Then again a cross country trip may be made from Lismore to Tenterfield, a distance of 106 miles. Service cars run daily (Sundays excepted) between the two towns.

The Lismore Chamber of Commerce and the North Coast Chamber of Manufactures, with the co-operation of the Municipal Council, have achieved much in the interests of the City and the District generally.

BALLINA.

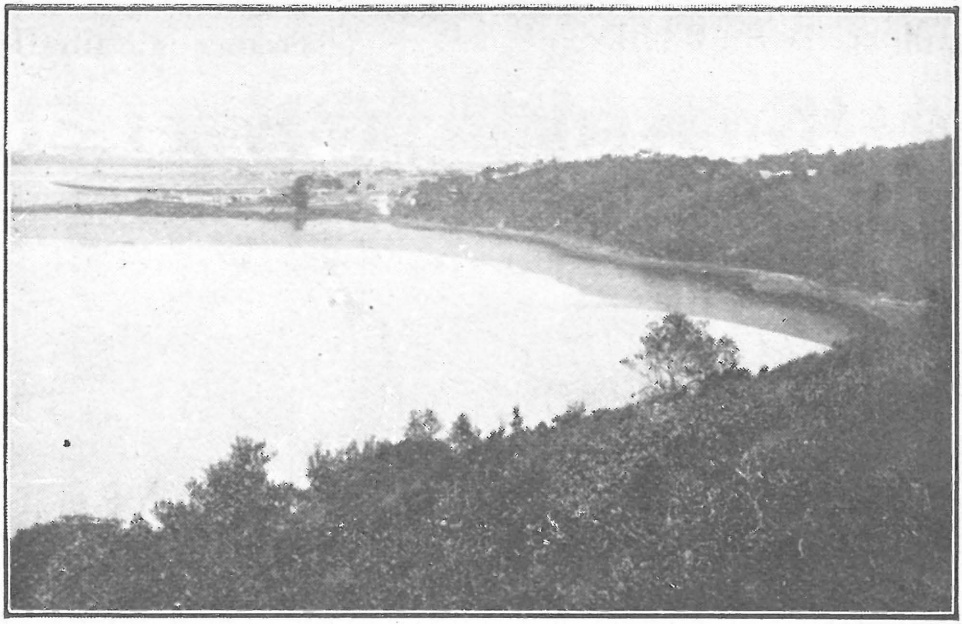

Ballina, a seaport town, situated on the north side of the entrance to the Richmond River, 331 miles north of Sydney, and 30 miles north of the Clarence River. The distance to Lismore is 21 miles—motor cars ply daily to and from both towns. A regular motor service also runs from Bangalow.

A branch line to connect Ballina with the Main North Coast Railway Line is nearing competion. This will add to the popularity of the town as a health and tourist resort.

Ballina is an ideal holiday place, having good surfing beaches. There is an excellent camping ground near the East Ballina Beach, where motorists may camp, a small charge being made for the convenience.

Fishermen cannot do better than stop over at this spot. Line fishing is a popular sport—tailer, jew, whiting and flathead abound. Fishing and oyster reserves are set aside for the public.

Fishing also forms one of the chief industries of the port, large quantities being shipped to the Sydney market regularly, also oysters, which are particularly good and of excellent flavour.

BALLINA.

In addition to Fishing, Dairying, Cane, Fruit and Maize Growing are also staple industries. The manufacture of Butter and Bacon are growing industries. All varieties of tropical and semi-tropical fruit grow abundantly.

Ballina, with a population of 4,020, is a progressive town, being lighted by electricity and having a water supply. It is coming to the fore in aviation circles on account of being on the Sydney-Brisbane air route. Ballina has one of the finest Aerodromes in New South Wales. The ground is particularly suitable—even in bad weather planes cannot bog.

It is interesting to know that Ballina as a port ranks next to the coal ports of Newcastle and Kembla.

From Ballina many delightful motor drives may be taken to Tintenbar, Rous, Teven, Alstonville, etc., countless beauty spots are passed en route.

There are Golf and Bowling Clubs, as well as Tennis Courts, at all of which visitors are welcome.

MURWILLUMBAH.

Murwillumbah, the terminal of the North Coast Railway, is also the principal town of the Tweed River.

It is the centre of one of the most famous tourist districts, and is situated in the midst of wonderful mountain and river scenery. The vegetation is tropical, and adds to the glories of the surroundings.

Mt. Warning (3,853 ft. in height), so named by Capt. Cook, stands out above the adjacent mountains. It is prominent for many miles.

The population of the town is 5,520, and within a radius of 30 miles 16,000.

The district is exceptionally fertile, being of volcanic formation. Paspalum grows particularly well on account of the splendid rainfall, the average being 72 inches.

The chief industries are sugar cane growing, dairying, pig raising, fruit growing and timber-getting. Since the eradication of bunchy top, considerable re-planting of banana plantations has been carried out, and the industry is once more coming to the fore.

The town is prosperous and up-to-date, having water supply, sewerage and electricity. Splendid work is being done by the Shire and Municipal Councils in regard to road improvements.

At Condong (3 miles out) the locally-grown cane is treated at the Colonial Sugar Refining Co.'s Mill.

Two branch factories of the Norco Co. are in operation, as well as other butter, cream and bacon factories. Altogether fully a dozen sawmills are at work.

Murwillumbah is the possessor of two Rowing Clubs, also Football and Cricket Clubs. Four public courts are available for tennis enthusiasts. Swimming and fishing are both popular.

When travelling north, the distance from Lismore is 61 miles, Byron Bay 35 miles, and Mullumbimby 27 miles.

From Sydney the distance by rail is 578 miles. Fares: 1st class £4/16/10 and 2nd class £3/5/10. From Newcastle the fares are £4/6/10 and £2/18/11 for 1st and 2nd classes respectively.

Murwillumbah is gaining in favour as a tourist resort, the winter climate being delightful.

Many trips may be made to mountain lands and river resorts. For those fond of mountaineering, visits are recommended to Mount Warning, Mount Uki, Mount Mibbin, Blue Knob, Mount Nullum, etc.

Wonderful views are obtainable from Hartigan's Hill, Terranora Heights, Reservoir Hill, Farrant's Hill, May's Hill at North Tumbulgum, Cudgen Headland, Cobaki Hills, and numerous other hills.

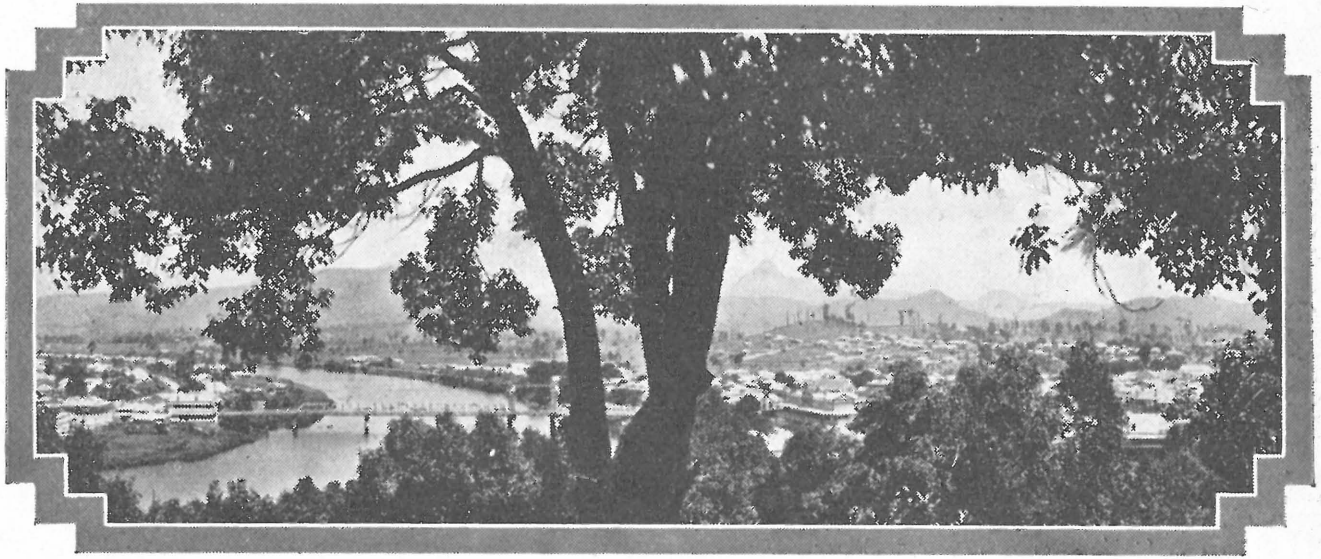

Anglers may obtain good fishing at all points on the Tweed River, and in addition at Cudgen Headland, Terranora Lakes, Piggabeen Lake, Fingal, Cudgera Headland, etc.

The following are all within short distances of Murwillumbah and are recommended as car trips:—Uki (distance 7 miles each way), Dunbible (4 miles each way), Stott's Island (17 miles in all), Farrant's Mill, and the Caves, Fingal.

Tweed Heads is distant 20 miles by road from Murwillumbah. Service cars run regularly between the two towns—single fare 6/- and return fare 10/-.

River steamers also ply daily between the two centres, the fare each way being 3/-.

The distance from Tweed Heads to South Brisbane by rail is 69 miles. Fares: 1st class 13/- and 2nd class 8/5. Excursion tickets are also issued by the Queensland Railways at different times of the year, the return fare being: 1st class 16/3 and 2nd class 11/-.

THE TWEED RIVER.

Words cannot adequately describe the beauties of the Tweed River, so we advise all tourists to make the trip up the River, for "seeing is believing." While many beauty spots are visited on the Sydney to Brisbane, via the North Coast route, it may be said that the Tweed is the crowning glory of all.

The trip may be made from Murwillumbah to Tweed Heads either by car or river steamer, the two routes unfolding different scenery.

After leaving Murwillumbah the road skirts the river for miles, beautiful views of cultivated areas, tropical vegetation and mountain scenery meeting the gaze at every turn.

Palm Island is passed, which as the name implies, possesses a wealth of tropical foliage.

Condong is next reached, where the locally grown sugar cane is treated at the Colonial Sugar Refining Co.'s mill.

After Tumbulgum, Stott's Island is reached. This is one of the most picturesque sights on the trip—the Island from end to end being covered with beautiful vegetation.

A bridge over Stott's Channel is next crossed, and the motorist then runs through an avenue of oaks to Chindera, at which point the river is crossed by ferry. Later Terranora Creek is reached, across which another ferry plies.

The road from here to Tweed Heads winds among banana plantations, beautiful views of the River being obtained all along the route. From all points Mt. Warning may be seen —like a mighty sentinel dominating the background.

The fare by steamer is 3/- each way. By car the fare is 6/- for single journey and 10/- return.

Numerous trips may be made by motor to points of interest along the River and surrounding hills, including Bungalora and Terranora Heights: Mooball Creek and Cudgera Headland; Limpinwood and Tyalgum; Wollumbim Creek; Duroby Creek, Bilambil, Dry Rock and Terranora.

In addition motor launch excursions are arranged. Visitors should not fail to visit Fingal.

Kingscliffe, known also as Cudgen Headland, is a charming watering place, surrounded by beautiful tropical vegetation, and consisting of fine beaches. From Murwillumbah the distance is 15 miles by splendidly constructed bitumen and concrete road. Upon reaching Chindera motorists branch off for Kingscliffe, 2 miles away. Tweed Heads is 5 miles distant and Brisbane 72 miles.

The beach is safe for bathing. Dressing Rooms have been erected, and the local Surf Club have premises.

A splendid camping ground for cars, which is the pride of the residents, has been built on the edge of the beach. A good water supply and sanitary conveniences have been arranged. A small charge is made for the use of the ground, which is kept in order by a caretaker.

(Information kindly supplied by R. M. Mitchell, Esq., Secretary of the Tweed Heads Chamber of Commerce.)

To many of our readers who may be "seeking fresh woods and pastures" for their holiday and tourist trips, might we put the question, "Have you ever visited the Tweed River District?" To those who have not visited this far-famed tourist resort, the following brief description and the facilities offered the traveller for a delightful holiday under ideal conditions, may be of interest.

In the extreme north-eastern portion of New South Wales, nestling alongside its sister border town of Coolangatta, lies Tweed Heads township, forming portion of Point Danger, the most northerly N.S.W. headland.

In any description of the wonderful Tweed District, it is impossible, as well as undesirable, to dissociate the towns of Tweed Heads and Coolangatta. They are known locally as the "Twin Towns" because, although situated on either side of the border, their interests are common. What is lacking in one town is made up in the other, and all the facilities are equally accessible from either.

Tweed Heads lies at the south of the picturesque river from which it derives its name, while Coolangatta is the possessor of beautiful beaches.

The district is connected by good accessible roads from the north and north-eastern areas of New South Wales, via the roads from Tenterfield to Casino, and from Glen Innes or Armidale to Grafton, thence from either Casino or Grafton along the North Coastal Road. Facilities are provided for travellers by service cars reaching the towns named at suitable times, governed by the arrival or departure of trains. The North Coast Railway Service may be joined either at Grafton or Lismore. Another advantage enjoyed by the Tweed District is its proximity to Brisbane, there being a frequent service, either by train or by car at reasonable rates.

Owing to the unique geographical position, the Twin Towns are bounded on the east and the north by the Pacific Ocean, so that cool sea breezes are assured in the hottest weather. This fact is borne out by statistical records of maximum readings, which rarely exceed 80 degrees.

The Twin Towns and surrounding districts are renowned alike for their unrivalled scenery, and the opportunities offered to tourists. Apart from climatic attractions as a winter resort, visitors can obtain all the pleasure they desire by car, motor boat and river steamer trips, also in surfing, swimming, fishing, shooting, golfing, or by engaging in other sports such as cricket, tennis, bowls or croquet.

The north coastal area of New South Wales and the southern district of Queensland are noted for their wonderful beaches of golden sands. At Rainbow Bay, and on the Greenmount and Kirra Beaches, where fully equipped pavilions have been erected, highly trained and efficient Life Saving Clubs are in constant attendance throughout the season, so that surfing is enjoyed with a minimum of risk. Although these beaches have been used by countless numbers of bathers over a very long period, it stands on record that there has never been an accident, as a result of either drowning or attack by sharks.

Other popular beaches include, Currumbin, Burleigh Heads, and so on along the coast line to Southport—an hour's delightful motor run over beautiful roads where the numerous bright sandy stretches are divided by rocky headlands jutting out into the sea. On the southern side of the Tweed River there are Fingal, Wommin, Cudgen, and Cudgera Beaches, which offer similar attractions, the localities providing excellent objectives for pleasurable motor drives.

The Tweed River District—and by this name is included all the country from Southport (Queensland) to Tweed Heads (New South Wales), as well as the area through which the river actually flows—is a revelation from a scenic point of view. It has been described by globe trotters as unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

For those who delight in bush scenery, there is the Upper Tweed District, in the centre of which stands Mt. Warning (3,853ft.), towering over the surrounding country which, with all its wealth of natural flora and fauna, has been proclaimed a National Park. Here will be found scenes of beautiful fertile valleys, lofty mountains and hills, bold cliffs, and rugged bluff, all having rich and varied vegetation. Mt. Warning is now ascended easily by a zigzag track, amidst wonderful tropical growth, and on reaching the summit will be viewed "a land flowing with milk and honey." From here the picturesque Tweed may be seen winding its way through splendid country, suggestive of great wealth in sugar plantations and dairy farms—ten thousand square miles of wonderfully varied views are within the range of vision.

Apart from the sporting activities already referred to briefly, the visitor need never lack entertainment at the Twin Towns. There are three up-to-date Picture Theatres, and in addition concerts and dances are constantly being held.

Excellent accommodation may be obtained at the various hotels and boarding houses, and flats are also available. Camping grounds for the erection of tents may be rented at a nominal figure. An excellent water supply and other conveniences have been arranged for the comfort of camping motorists.

Two newspapers are circulated at Tweed Heads and Coolangatta—"The Border Star" is published weekly at Coolangatta, and "The Tweed Daily," although printed at Murwillumbah, is delivered in the Twin Towns by 7 a.m. each day.

TUGUN.

At Tugun the South Coast Railway meets the coast—the beach being only 100 yards away.

The distance to Coolangatta is 3 miles, Burleigh Heads 6 miles, and Southport 16 miles.

Like the other beaches on the South Coast Line, Tugun is popular for surfing all the year round, the winter climate being exceptionally good.

The beach is three miles in extent, and is equal to any in the Commonwealth. Surfing is safe, but during week-ends and on holidays members of the Tugun Life Saving Club are on duty as a safeguard for bathers.

Fishing on the beach and rocks is very good.

During the season a motor bus service runs to all the surrounding places of interest, and fishing excursions are arranged.

For Particulars apply Mrs. J. McDONALD

When in search of a quiet holiday, one cannot do better than visit Tugun. Accommodation is obtainable at the hotel. A large number of comfortably furnished cottages are available. Tugun Beach Flats have recently been built at a cost of £5,000. These are modern and are fitted with conveniences seldom found outside capital cities. For amusements tourists visit Coolangatta and Tweed Heads, which are only 3 miles distant.

The main Coast Road passes through the town, which is situated practically on the ocean beach.

There are local stores to supply the requirements of visitors, and a Post Office and branch of the Commonwealth Savings Bank for their convenience.

PALM BEACH.

Palm Beach, Elanora, Queensland, is that crescent of sun-kissed sand, washed by the blue Pacific Ocean, lying between Big Burleigh and Currumbin Headlands. Therefore, it is sheltered from heavy weather, and has a reputation for safety, which has added to its popularity. There are lovely fern filled scrubs, a permanent fresh water lake, and large public reserves.

Owing to there being other Palm Beaches, officialdom has distinguished the Queensland Palm Beach by naming the Railway Station, Post and Telegraph Office and the Commonwealth Savings Bank by the pleasant sounding name of Elanora.

Forty chains (half-a-mile) only is the distance between Elanora Station and the surfing beach, where the local authority has erected a large shelter shed for the convenience of picnicers.

Palm Beach is excellent for surfing and surf-fishing, and is perfectly safe at all times, and an ideal place for children's holidays. The Annual Sand Garden Competitions held on this beach are very popular, and attract more entries than other beaches.

Currumbin and Tallebudgera Creeks are large tidal creeks which provide the angler with additional sport and a sure creel of fish. The smooth waters are also in great demand by bathers and swimmers, whilst the upper reaches provide ample scope for the artist and sightseer.

The transportation facilities are most convenient. The Main South Coastal Bitumen Motor Road passes right through Palm Beach, on which there are many motor car and motor bus services plying between Brisbane and New South Wales towns, the principal service being that of the New England Motors, which stops, as required, for passengers to and from Palm Beach. The South Coast railway service from South Brisbane to the Tweed stops, as required, at Elanora Station, where passengers are met by motor cars and conveyed to their destination.

The distance from South Brisbane by rail is 63 miles. Fares: 1st class 11/7 and 2nd class 7/8. Excursions are run at different times throughout the year by the Queensland Government Railways, the 1st class return fare to Elanora then being 14/9 and 2nd class 9/11. From Tweed Heads (Coolangatta) the distance by rail is only 6 miles.

Many tourist trips are also arranged from Palm Beach to the surrounding places of interest to holiday people. For a seaside holiday there are many advantages in favour of Palm Beach. There are well built modern bungalows, comfortably furnished, facing the beach and adjacent thereto. First-class hotel, boarding-house, stores, tea-rooms, post office, etc. Tennis court and, approximately 10 minutes run to Coolangatta and Tweed Heads, Bowling Green and Golf Clubs.

Palm Beach has made rapid and continued progress during the past few years. It presents good opportunities for investment, as good building sites can still be obtained, right on the beach, at reasonably cheap prices and on easy terms basis.

Messrs. Chandler & Russell, Estate Agents, of 215 Queen Street, Brisbane, and at Coolangatta, have taken a lively interest in the development of Palm Beach, and will supply any information required regarding investments or accommodation.

On the South Coast of Queensland, 59 miles from Brisbane, with which it is connected by rail, being on the Tweed Heads —Brisbane Line.

Burleigh Heads is an ideal seaside resort, both in summer and winter. The winter climate is exceptionally mild—in fact, surfing is indulged in all the time. Tourists and campers make this spot their headquarters for the winter, spending from one to three months here.

The beach, which is opposite the township, is safe for surfing, and extends from Burleigh Heads to Southport, a distance of 9 miles. Speed tests for motor cars and motor-cycles are held on the beach at different times throughout the year.

A camping ground, under the supervision of the local Council, has been set aside for the use of visiting motorists. To this is connected a good water supply and modern sanitary arrangements.

A progressive town and one of the popular seaside resorts on the Tweed-Brisbane Line. From Brisbane the distance is 50 miles south by splendid road, while the Twin Towns of Coolangatta and Tweed Heads are 19 miles farther on.

Southport is in a good location, facing the Pacific Ocean, and at the mouth of the Nerang River. A substantial concrete pier has been erected.

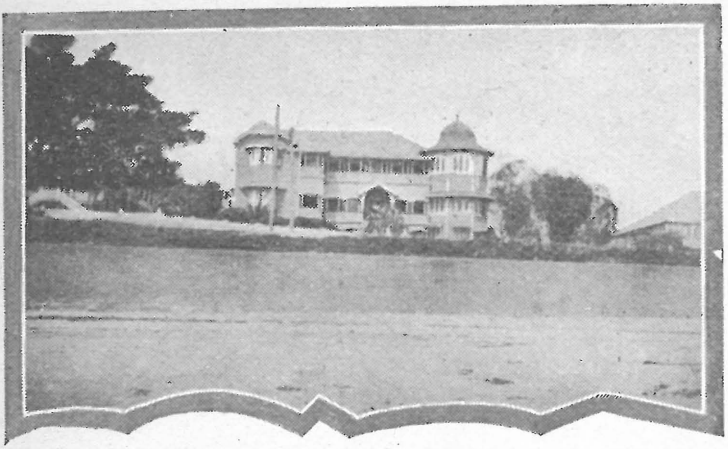

Possessing a good winter climate, Southport attracts visitors from the other States, while in the season it is the mecca of Brisbane and Queensland residents generally.

The many hotels and boarding houses provide good accommodation, and furnished cottages are also available.

Surfing is exceptionally safe on the Ocean Beach, consequently forms one of the favourite pastimes.

EAST MAITLAND.

East Maitland is situated on the Main Northern Line, 118 miles from Sydney, and 18 miles from Newcastle, and 2 miles from West Maitland.

It is also connected by tram and bus with the latter town. Population about 4,500. The line to Morpeth branches off at East Maitland.

East Maitland has always been regarded as the official centre of the district, where the sittings of the Supreme Court, Courts of Quarter Sessions, and District Courts are held. The Gaol, Lands Office, Shire, Municipal and other public offices are located here.

The main business pursuits of the Maitland District are centred at West Maitland, but from a residential point of view East Maitland is fast developing, especially on the highlands towards Morpeth and Raymond Terrace. Situated within 18 miles of Newcastle it is already the home of many public officials and commercial men of the seaport centre.

WEST MAITLAND.

West Maitland is situated on the Main Northern Line 120 miles from Sydney, and 20 miles from Newcastle; and is also the Junction Station of the Main North Coast Railway.

Maitland lies in the centre of the fertile valley of the Lower Hunter. It is rich in agriculture, its extensive lucerne flats whose alluvial deposits, the results of continual floods sweeping over the Hunter Valley at regular intervals, reach a depth from twelve to seventy feet over the area within easy distance of the River make the farms probably the richest in production in the State.

Vitaculture, Dairying, etc., are extensively carried on in the district, helping to make West Maitland an important, busy and prosperous community. Lying to the South of Maitland, and connected with West Maitland by several lines of private railways, is the great Maitland Coalfields, the most extensive and the most valuable in the Southern Hemisphere.

The town of West Maitland, lying in the lowlands between Wallace Creek and the Hunter, is one of the most prosperous in the State.

SINGLETON.

Singleton, called after Mr. Benjamin Singleton, who in 1825 was one of a party which first explored the Valley of the Hunter, is situated on that River, 44 miles by rail north of Newcastle and 148 miles from Sydney, on the Great Northern Line.

From Maitland the distance is 30 miles, while on the north the next town of importance is Muswellbrook, 30 miles distant.

The population of the town is 6,000, and of the district 15,000.

SINGLETON.

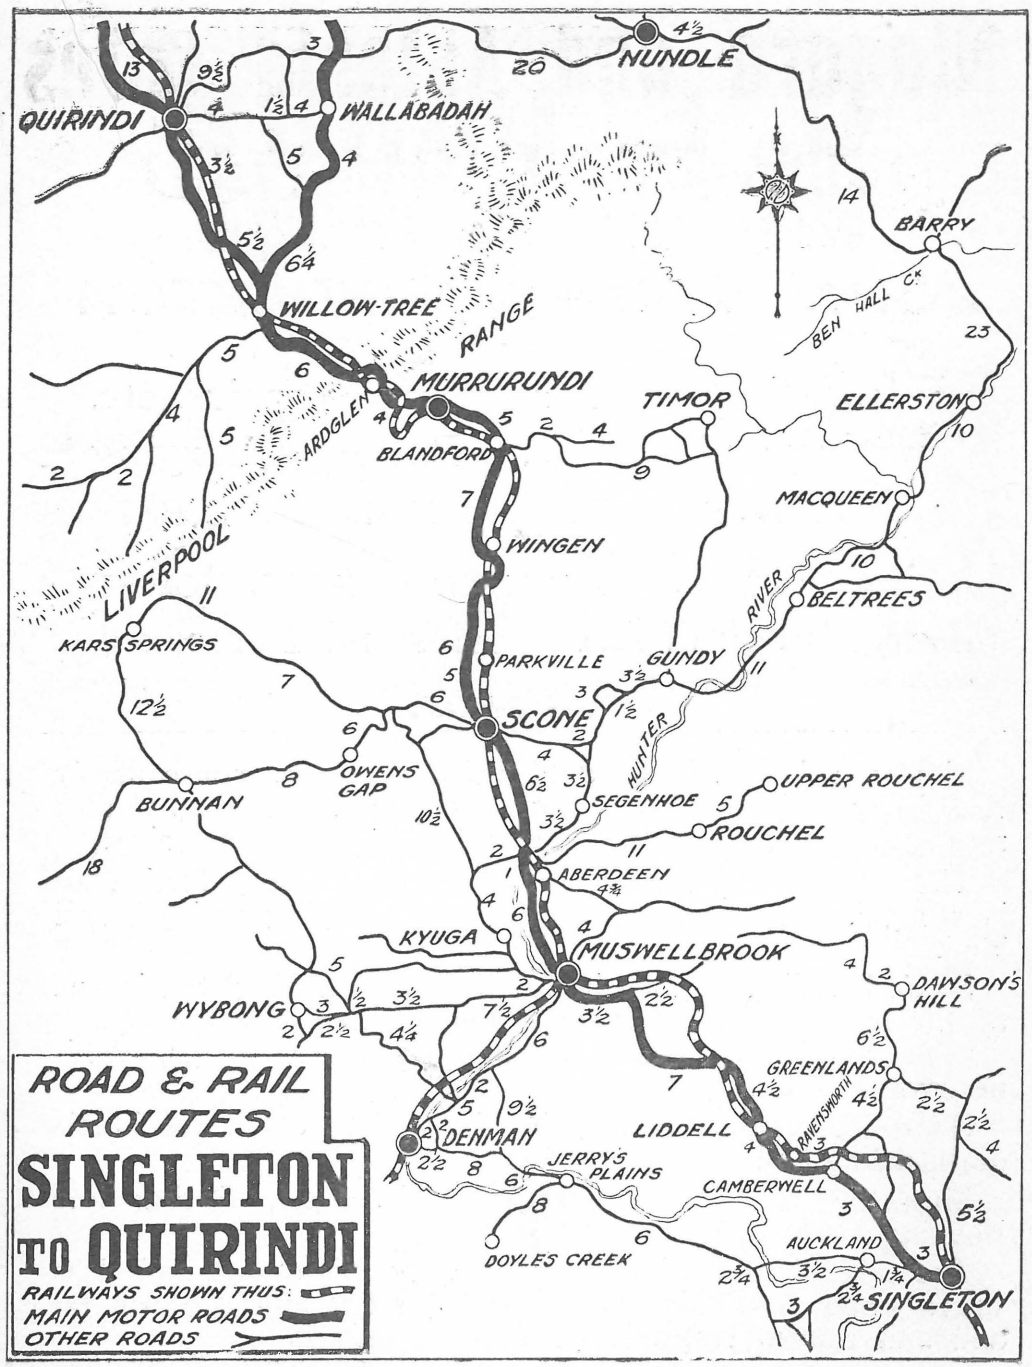

The country in the vicinity of Singleton is known as Patrick's Plains (so named by the first explorers, John Howe, Benjamin Singleton and party, who camped there on St. Patrick's Day).

The town of Singleton is well laid, with gas, water, electric light and power conveniences. The electricity supply is obtained from the Railway Department, Newcastle.

The town reservoir holds 1½ million gallons of water, which is adequate to meet all requirements.

The residents are the proud possessors of excellent Swimming Baths, which have been constructed to Olympic standards. The water in the Baths is kept purified by cloronation process.

The Dangar Cottage Hospital is one of the best equipped in New South Wales.

MUSWELLBROOK.

Muswellbrook is situated on the Muscle Creek and the Hunter River and is an important town of the Upper Hunter River Valley.

The town, which is the centre of one of the richest districts in Australia, is up-to-date and progressive, having water, gas and electricity supplies.

Great improvement has taken place in the past five years, as is shown by the number of new buildings which have been erected. During 1929 the value of these was £56,000, which does not include the splendid White Memorial Baths. These cost nearly £9,000 and the residents may well be proud of being the possessors of what is regarded as the most up-to-date pool in our Continent. It has been adopted by the N.S.W. Amateur Swimming Association as a standard.

MUSWELLBROOK.

The filtration part of the work alone cost £2,300. The Baths are open for swimming both day and night.

The district contains particularly good land, well watered by small rivers, and, in consequence, pastoral, dairying and agricultural pursuits are extensively and most successfully followed. In addition, two Coal Mines are worked. A butter factory, joinery works, chilling works and plaster works have been established.

Muswellbrook is on the Great Northern Railway and the highway to the North passes through the town.

Tourists to the district will find much to interest them in mountain and river scenery. The town is on the main route to Barrington Tops, 75 miles away.

Tennis is played day and night on the local courts and, in addition, there are Golf and Bowling Clubs.

The town is the headquarters of the Muswellbrook Shire and the Local Land Board.

Visitors may obtain accommodation at any of the seven Hotels.

Eight trains daily make Muswellbrook a busy town. The distance from Sydney is 179 miles (6¼ hours run). Fares: 1st Class, £1/6/11; and 2nd Class, 18/8.

From Newcastle the distance is 75 miles (2½ hours run), the fares being 13/5 and 9/3 for 1st and 2nd classes respectively.

SCONE.

Prettily situated on the stream called Kingdon Ponds, on the slope of a small hill, about 680 feet above sea level, almost surrounded by mountains, is the town of Scone with a population of 2,300.

On account of its elevated position and natural advantages as regards drainage it has a high character for healthiness.

About one mile from Scone is a wild and picturesque spot known as the Flat Rock, the romantic scenery of which is highly spoken of and well worth visiting.

About 10 miles from the town in a northerly direction, on a spur of the Liverpool Range, 1½ miles from the Great Northern Road and approximately 2 miles from the Wingen Railway Station, is the only burning mountain in Australia —supposed to be covered with coal beds continually on fire. It is a great attraction to tourists and visitors.

Barrington Tops, another tourist attraction, may be reached by car from Scone. The trout streams are the delight of anglers.

Scone has made very marked progress during recent years, due to the wealth of the surrounding district, which is regarded as the most extensive and soundest in the State. Wool growing, cattle raising, dairying, horse breeding, and agriculture generally are most successfully carried on.

The town is most progressive, possessing both up-to-date business premises and private residences. It is lighted by electricity, and it is expected the water supply scheme will shortly be commenced.

The Scott Memorial Hospital, which has been fitted up on modern lines, was practically built by the generous residents, who have also supplied and equipped an Ambulance.

The roads radiating from Scone are well made and many picturesque drives may be taken. A dry road extends up the Hunter River for 35 miles. On the Rouchel side the streams have been bridged, thus aiding motor transport.

There are many garages and petrol pumps in the town. Good accommodation is obtainable at the Hotels.

The splendid stores supply all the wants of residents and visitors.

Golf, Tennis, Cricket, and Football Clubs provide the sport of the district, the population of which is 7,000.

"The Scone Advocate," which has a large circulation, is published bi-weekly.

From Sydney the distance is 195 miles by rail. Fares: 1st Class £1/10/8 and 2nd Class £1/1/3. Newcastle on the South is 91 miles away, the fares being 16/11 and 11/7 for 1st and 2nd Classes respectively.

The average rainfall is 24.5 inches.

WILLOW TREE.

Willow Tree, on the Great Northern Railway Line, is 233 miles from Sydney. Fares: 1st class £1/17/9 and 2nd class £1/5/11. From Newcastle the distance is 129 miles, the fares being £1/5/3 and 17/2 for 1st and 2nd classes respectively.

By road, Willow Tree is 35 miles north of Scone and 12 miles north of Murrurundi.

After travelling a further 12 miles motorists reach Quirindi, while those having Tamworth as their objective have 45 miles to cover from Willow Tree.

The main pursuits are wool growing, fat lamb and cattle raising.

Hotel accommodation is available. Motorists wants are catered for by the local garage, while refreshments are obtainable at refreshment rooms.

The town has Post Office, stores, auctioneer, etc., also a Memorial Hall and Library.

QUIRINDI.

Quirindi, on the Great Northern Railway, 244 miles from Sydney, stands at the junction of the Quirindi and Jacob and Joseph Creeks from which a permanent water supply is drawn.

The town is lighted by electricity and is the centre of a rich and important pastoral, dairying and agricultural district. It is the nearest station for the greater portion of the Liverpool Plains, which are famous for grazing and agriculture.

The prosperity of the district is evidenced by the fact that butter and ice factories have been established, and in addition freezing works, flour mill and cordial factories are in operation.

The population of the town is 2,850 and of the district 4,750, for whom recreation is provided by the various Clubs, sive agricultural and pastoral land of which it forms the centre. Its up-to-date and substantial buildings are far ahead of any other town in the north of New South Wales.

The immense variety of its primary industries is one of the many reasons for its prosperity, amongst which are wool, wheat, barley, millet, lucerne, tobacco, dairying, pig farming, fruits, vegetables and stock raising. A great belt of limestone traverses the Tamworth district and from extensive quarries enormous quantities of limestone are obtained and supplied to other parts of the State, particularly Newcastle. Marble of great beauty is obtainable in the Tamworth district.

The wonderful panoramic view from the Big Hill on the Armidale-Kempsey Road is less than three hours' run from the city, while many other fine views of mountain scenery, rivers and gorges are even closer. Armidale boasts a Tourist Branch, which is ready at all times to give advice.

All sporting bodies, with excellent facilities, welcome visitors and give them every opportunity to enjoy themselves.

Motor car services run to the Coast and to the North-West daily, and the City is, therefore, an ideal "jumping off point" for tourists on pleasure bent. The regular services include Kempsey, Grafton and Inverell.

The Railway Fares from Sydney are:—1st class £3/1/8, and 2nd class £2/1/11. From Newcastle the distance is GUYRA.

Guyra, on the Northern Tablelands, at an elevation of 4,330 feet above sea level, is one of the highest towns in New South Wales, consequently the climate is particularly invigorating.

The distance by rail from Sydney is 386 miles, and from Newcastle 282 miles. The fares from Sydney are: 1st class £3/6/7 and 2nd class £2/2/5; from Newcastle: 1st class £2/14/2 and 2nd class £1/16/5.

The population of the town is 1,200, and of the district 3,500.

Wool growing, agriculture and dairying form the chief pursuits, and, in addition, Guyra is noted as a potato and fruit growing centre. The climate is conducive to the growing of apples, cherries and other fruits which do well in a cold climate.

Visitors to the district may indulge in shooting and fishing. A Rod Fishermen's Association has been formed, the Secretary of which, Mr. B. J. Hudson, will be pleased to furnish information regarding the excellent trout streams in the district.

The town possesses a splendid 18-hole Golf Course, on which the game is played all the year round, also Tennis Courts, Cricket, Football and Rifle Clubs.

unimproved capital value of ratable land in the municipality is over a million pounds, and the public services provided include gas, electricity and water. A sewerage scheme, to cost £75,000, has been submitted by the Public Works Department and adopted by the Council. A complete sewerage survey has been made, and the work will be started as soon as money is available.

Glen Innes is acknowledged to be one of the most progressive and highly developed towns in New South Wales. Its stability is shown by the fact that it is among the few country towns in the State which have steadily added to their population year by year. New buildings and additions were erected in the municipality during the past twelve months to the value of approximately £50,000.

GLEN INNES.

Glen Innes has a great appeal for the tourist by reason of its mild climate and the many beauty spots within the district. Good camping places are situated handy to the town, and with the excellent condition of the roads travel to the various places of interest is made pleasant.

The Glen Innes Rod Fishermen's Association has done much in recent years to replenish trout supplies in the district streams, and the visiting fisherman now finds much to interest him here.

The town possesses a fine bowling green, tennis courts and golf links. The links are situated about three miles from the town in grounds covering an area of 150 acres of admirable golfing country.
